ADDING TEETH TO LAW

Bomb threats to 30 more flights, regulator shifted

DGCA appointed coal secy in fresh shuffle

YESHI SELI & SHEKHAR SINGH @New Delhi

AMID waves after waves of hoax bomb threats shaking up the aviation industry, the government on Saturday shifted the regulator out of the civil aviation ministry.

Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) chief Vikram Dev Dutt was appointed coal secretary as part of a top-level bureaucratic reshuffle. A joint secretary-level official is likely to take his place at the earliest, according to sources.

The transfers happened on a day when fresh bomb threats forced over 30 flights, including those on international routes, to make emergency landings. The affected carriers included Air India, Vistara, IndiGo, SpiceJet, Alliance Air, and Akasa Air.

"The Internet Protocol (IP) addresses from the threats today and the ones earlier this week have been traced to London, Germany, Canada and the US. However, it is possible the Virtual Private Networks (VPN) were used by some to hide their real locations,'' a source said.

In less than a week, hoax bomb threats have impacted close to 70 flights. On Saturday, officials from the Bureau of Civil Aviation Security (BCAS) had a meeting with the CEOs of different airline operators in the civil aviation ministry.

They were briefed about the Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) for tackling threats, which cause fear and inconvenience to passengers and losses for the airlines.

The DGCA and the BCAS are expected to issue fresh guidelines to manage the situation.

Sources said a note was found in the rest room of one of the airlines warning of a bomb in a flight. However, all the threats were fake. Sources said IndiGo, Akasa, Vistara, Air India, SpiceJet and Alliance Air received five threats each.

The civil aviation ministry is reviewing regulations to introduce harsher penalties. The authorities are contemplating a five-year prison sentence and placing offenders on a no-fly list. At present, hoax bomb threats are dealt with under existing criminal laws. The government is exploring legal options to introduce a deterrent.

Joshi's brother, nephew arrested in cheating case

'Joshi not involved'

Sunitha Chavan, wife of former JDS MLA Devanand Fulsingh Chavan, has denied the role of Union Minister Pralhad Joshi in the case. "He has a spotless character. He is a person of integrity," she said

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

UNION MINISTER Pralhad Joshi's brother Gopal Joshi and nephew Ajay Joshi were reportedly arrested on Saturday in Maharashtra by Basaveshwaranagar police in the Rs 2 crore cheating case. A complaint in this regard was filed by Sunitha Chavan, 48, wife of former Nagthan JDS MLA Devanand Fulsingh Chavan, on Thursday.

In the complaint, Sunitha stated that the accused had cheated her of Rs 2 crore by promising her family a BJP ticket to contest the recent Lok Sabha elections.

Gopal Joshi was arrested from a lodge in Kolhapur, while his son Ajay from Pune and brought to Hubballi.

On Friday, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara told reporters that three people were arrested and a search was on for Gopal.

Somashekar Nayak, a close acquaintance of the complainant and suspected to be the key conspirator along with Vijaya Kumari, who posed as Pralhad Joshi's sister by calling herself as Vijayalakshmi, were arrested earlier in connection with the case.

In a statement on Friday, Pralhad Joshi said that he does not have any sister and mentioning Vijayalakshmi as his sister in the FIR is highly nonfactual. He severed his relationship with Gopal 32 years ago. CONTINUED ON P4

J&K statehood step closer with L-G nod

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

PAVING the way for the restoration of statehood for Jammu & Kashmir, the Union Territory's Lieutenant Governor Manoj Sinha has cleared the resolution passed by the Omar Abdullah-led Cabinet in this regard. "The restoration of statehood will be the beginning of a healing process, reclaiming the constitutional rights and protecting the identity of people of Jammu and Kashmir," a statement issued on Saturday read. It noted that the J&K Cabinet has passed a resolution urging the Union Government to restore the statehood.

The Cabinet, which met under the chairmanship of Chief Minister Omar Abdullah in Srinagar on Thursday, had passed a unanimous resolution for restoration of statehood in its original form.

The Centre had on August 5, 2019, scrapped J&K's special status and bifurcated the erstwhile state into two Union territories — Jammu and Kashmir (with legislature) and Ladakh (without legislature).

"The Cabinet has authorised the chief minister to take up the matter with the prime minister and Government of India for restoration of statehood," an official spokesman said.

He said protection of Jammu and Kashmir's unique identity and the constitutional rights of people remains the cornerstone of the newly elected government's policy.

According to the spokesperson, the CM would be proceeding to New Delhi in the coming days to meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi and other Union ministers in this regard.

Before assuming power, Omar had suggested that the first cabinet meeting should pass a resolution on restoration of statehood and hand over the draft of the resolution to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Home Minister Amit Shah, and other ministers.

Omar's National Conference had contested the Assembly polls on the plank of restoration of Article 370 and statehood.

RESOLUTION SILENT ON RESTORATION OF A370

The Omar Abdullah-led Cabinet's resolution only mentions full statehood for J&K and does not talk about restoring Article 370, triggering protests from other J&K parties, which accused the NC of reneging on its poll promise

HEALTH SCARE

SM Krishna admitted to hospital, stable

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister and senior BJP leader SM Krishna was admitted to a private hospital in the city on Thursday after he suffered a stroke, according to sources.

The 92-year-old politician has been put on High Flow Nasal Cannula (HFNC) for oxygen support. However, the hospital denied these developments and maintained that Krishna came for a health check-up. He is stable and will be discharged by Monday.

The sources said Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar visited the hospital on Saturday and inquired about Krishna's health.

The former CM is reportedly unconscious and is under the observation of a team of doctors. "Krishna is likely to be shifted to a ward soon," said a source.

The former chief minister was recently discharged from the hospital after a few weeks of treatment.

MURDER-FOR-HIRE

U.S. CHARGES BOGUS, CLAIMS VIKASH YADAV'S COUNSEL

UJWAL JALALI @New Delhi

THE counsel of former Research and Analysis Wing (R&AW) officer Vikash Yadav on Saturday termed the charges brought against his client by the US law enforcement agencies as bogus and part of an international ploy to defame India. "He (Vikash Yadav) is being deliberately framed. It appears that all this is an international plot to defame India and the country's top intelligence agencies," advocate RK Handoo told this newspaper.

Yadav, a former government officer, was indicted by the US authorities for his alleged role in a foiled murder-for-hire plot against Khalistani separatist Gurpatwant Singh Pannun on US soil.

In a completely unrelated case of extortion, Yadav was arrested by the Delhi Police in December last year and lodged in Tihar Jail for four months till he got regular bail. The extortion-cum-kidnapping case was registered by the Special Cell of the Delhi Police on the complaint of a businessman in Delhi's Rohini.

The FIR said Yadav demanded money in the name of gangster Lawrence Bishnoi, forced the victim to sign a blank cheque, took ₹50,000 from his cafe and deleted all CCTV recordings there.

As for the US indictment, advocate Handoo denied all allegations and said that if anyone reads the charges from a proper perspective, they would understand that all of them are fallacious. "As I understand being his lawyer, Vikash is a decent, well-read, and well-cultured man. I cannot fathom that he can be involved in any such activity," Handoo said.

Health insurance premium: GoM moots GST relief

DIPAK MONDAL @New Delhi

THE Group of Ministers (GoM) constituted by the GST Council to look into the demand for lower rates on health and life insurance premium recommended a complete GST waiver on health insurance premium for senior citizens. Sources said the GoM, headed by the Bihar DyCM Samrat Choudhary, also recommended that no GST be levied on health insurance premium where the sum insured is up to ₹5 lakh. For all other health insurance policies, the GoM has proposed 18% GST.

As far as life insurance policies are concerned, most panel members favoured complete waiver of GST on term insurance premium. Term insurance policies offer a sum assured only at the death of the policyholder.

The GoM on GST rate rationalisation, too, met and recommended a three-slab structure instead of the existing four-tier tax structure—5%, 12%, 18%, and 28%. Sources said the slabs will be based on pricing with high-value items attracting GST at higher rates. The panel also decided to lower tax rates on 20-litre packaged drinking water bottles, bicycles, and exercise notebooks to 5% from 18%. The proposals include cutting GST on bicycles costing under ₹10,000 to 5% from 12%.

The panel has also suggested higher GST for some luxury items. According to one of the members, this would help the government mop up ₹22,000 crore more, thus making up for the revenue losses due to reduction in GST rates on health and life insurance premiums.

KSMSCL officials diverting med supplies elsewhere?

KARTHIK KK @Mysuru

EXPRESS EXCLUSIVE

OFFICIALS of Karnataka State Medical Supplies Corporation Ltd (KSMSCL) here have been allegedly hoarding huge quantities of essential medical supplies, particularly gloves, while misleading government hospitals into believing that they are in short supply.

According to sources, officials, including a senior pharmacist of KSMSCL, withhold critical medical supplies and stock them in the warehouse, but make new indents for purchase. They allegedly dispose of the withheld stocks through their agents and pocket huge sums of money.

A highly placed source told The New Sunday Express that these officials show 'no stock' or 'less stock' of gloves in the 'drug-wise stock on hand' list. But in reality, these stocks are kept in the warehouse even as government hospitals grapple with shortage of supplies.

"Government hospitals are misled into believing that gloves are in short supply, directly affecting frontline healthcare workers who have been tirelessly serving the public. The drug stock lists are manipulated to cover up this unethical practice and divert the supplies," said a source.

Gloves allegedly hoarded in the warehouse | EXPRESS

Access to Karnataka State Medical Supplies Corporation Ltd records revealed 19 boxes of surgical gloves (NA 6.5) for May and June in the stock list for delivery, while more than 90 such boxes of gloves were hidden in the warehouse.

When The New Sunday Express tried to contact the official in-charge of the warehouse and other senior officials at the office of KSMSCL in Jayalakshmipuram here, they were 'not reachable'. P7

The staff at Vijayapura Government Hospital readying equipment to store donated breast milk

THE FIRST NECTAR

A mothers' milk bank at Vijayapura Government Hospital will play a critical role in ensuring survival and health of premature and ill newborns in North Karnataka

INDIA has one of the highest rates of premature births globally, with 12 per cent of all deliveries resulting in pre-term babies. Several babies, especially in poorer districts, suffer from malnutrition for want of mothers' milk. To address the problem, the Vijayapura Government Hospital is set to establish the first breast milk bank in North Karnataka, which will serve over 2,000 newborns annually.

Spearheaded by Dr Santosh Karletti, General Secretary of Sushena Health Foundation, this initiative aims to address the nutritional needs of premature and ill infants, while playing a critical role in reducing neonatal mortality by providing breast milk for vulnerable babies, particularly those whose mothers are unable to feed them due to health or other reasons.

The hospital handles around 10,000 deliveries every year, with 2,000 newborns requiring neonatal intensive care, including around 1,000 premature babies. Dr Karletti informed that breast milk is the best nutritional option for such infants, significantly reducing the risk of infections and lowering mortality by over 20 per cent. Meanwhile, formula or cow's milk poses health risks for premature babies, making breast milk essential.

First vaccine after birth

Explaining the benefits of breast milk, Dr Karletti says colostrum, produced in the first hour after birth, acts as the newborn's first vaccine, protecting against diseases such as jaundice. Accordingly, in a bid to ensure the health of newborns, the milk bank will ensure that every baby has access to breast milk, either from their own mother or donor. Donor milk is especially vital for babies, whose mothers are unable to breastfeed them due to illness or other complications.

Meanwhile, Dr Mastiholi, District Surgeon at Vijayapura Government Hospital, notes that around 20 per cent of newborns need donor breast milk due to maternal deaths, abandonment, illness or insufficient milk production. Even convincing 150 mothers out of the 900, who deliver at the hospital, to donate milk, could meet the bank's initial targets.

The milk bank, part of a larger hub-and-spoke model planned for North Karnataka, will serve as a centre for milk distribution to other districts, such as Bidar and Kalaburagi.

BENEFITS FOR LIFE

Breast milk is beneficial to the baby, right from birth:

- Nutrition

Provides all the nutrients a baby needs for the first six months of life, including fat, carbohydrates, proteins, vitamins, minerals and water. It is easily digested

- Protection

Provides immunity and protects babies from many illnesses and diseases, including asthma, obesity, type 1 diabetes, ear infections and sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS)

- Antibodies

Contains antibodies from the mother, which protects the baby

Initially, the bank aims to collect 45-50 litres of milk per month, with a goal to reach 100 litres every month by the first year, eventually increasing it to 150 litres.

Taboos galore

While societal taboos about breast milk donation exist, the hospital plans to overcome them through education and counselling. Many mothers produce excess milk, which can lead to complications if not expressed. Lactation counsellors will guide such mothers to donate surplus milk, which would otherwise go waste.

Dr Karletti points out that breast milk donation also has historical precedents in ancient civilisations, including Roman, Egyptian, Greek and Indian societies. The milk bank aims to revive this practice in a modern setting, ensuring the milk is pasteurised and preserved for up to six months.

All donated milk will undergo pasteurisation to preserve vital nutrients and antibodies, ensuring a shelf life of up to six months. The milk will be stored at minus 20 degrees Celsius, and most will be used within 1-2 weeks of pasteurisation to prevent waste. Only healthy mothers can donate milk; those with serious illnesses like cancer or HIV are ineligible. However, mothers with conditions like diabetes or hypertension will still be allowed to donate.

Vijayapura's milk bank will follow the model of Hyderabad's Niloufer Hospital, which has the largest mothers' milk bank in India, collecting up to 300 litres of milk per month. Dr Karletti mentions that one of Niloufer Hospital's notable donors, an anaesthetist, contributed 50 litres of milk in just two months, while a software engineer donated 28 litres.

Free services, universal access

The services of the milk bank in Vijayapura will be entirely free of cost, including screening, pasteurisation and milk distribution. Unlike blood banks, no fee will be charged from recipients. Dr Mastiholi is confident that this initiative will revolutionise neonatal care in North Karnataka, significantly improving infant survival rates.

The milk bank is set to be established by December at a cost of Rs 2 crore, funded by Sushena Health Foundation. The organisation will operate the unit for two years before handing it over to the District Hospital. Local staff will receive necessary training on its operation and maintenance during this time. Through education, donor participation, and advanced preservation techniques, this novel initiative is expected to save lives and serve as a model for future milk banks across the region.

A do-gooder doctor committed to society

First surgeon to introduce 3D laparoscopic surgery; Dr Ramesh B has trained about 2,000 gynaecologists in this technique

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

YEARS ago, a 10-year-old who watched his mother endure heavy menstrual bleeding and his father battle a chronic illness could never have imagined that he would one day become a pioneering laparoscopic surgeon. His experiences inspired him to ensure that others would not have to endure the same hardships his family faced.

Dr Ramesh B, now a medical director and chief laparoscopic surgeon, grew up in a family of farmers in the small village of Santhemavathur in Tumakuru district.

Reflecting on his upbringing, Dr Ramesh said, "Being born into a farming family, it was almost certain I would spend my life in the fields. But from a young age, seeing the hardships women endured during menstruation, pregnancy, and after childbirth made me realise that my village needed a doctor just as much as it needed farmers. Despite my duty to farming before and after school, I was determined to pursue medicine, knowing there were no medical facilities for miles around."

"As the suffering around me grew and illnesses took a toll on families, I decided to study whenever I could. Even while travelling to Kunigal, a town 10 km away, I kept my focus on furthering my education. My goal was clear-- to secure a seat in a medical college and make a real difference to my community," Dr Ramesh added.

Dr Ramesh believed his struggles would end once he secured a place at Mysuru Medical College in 1988. However, he soon lost hearing in one ear. "With a financial burden facing my family and knowing how much had already been spent on my education, I decided not to seek treatment and pushed forward with my studies," he said.

Between 1993 and 1994, Dr Ramesh completed his Doctor of Medicine (MD), Diploma in Obstetrics and Gynecology (DGO), and Fellowship of the College of Physicians and Surgeons (FCPS). After completing his MBBS, he chose to work in rural areas of North Kerala to support his family and help his siblings with their education. He worked there for two years while simultaneously preparing for his MD entrance exam.

Dr Ramesh reflected on those challenging years, saying, "It was tough, but my hard work paid off when I secured a merit seat for an MD in Obstetrics and Gynaecology at Seth GS Medical College and KEM Hospital in Mumbai."

After completing MD, he returned to Missionary Hospital in a rural area of Kerala, where he served for five years while specialising in laparoscopic surgeries. During this time, he rented a car from a friend he met while serving in Kerala, to transport laparoscopic instruments and travelled to rural areas to perform free surgeries. He continues this even today as he serves as medical director and chief laparoscopic surgeon.

Dr Ramesh mentioned that he, along with his team, travelled extensively across Karnataka, using a mobile unit to carry equipment, promote laparoscopic surgeries, educate the public, and train doctors. They conducted numerous laparoscopic tubectomy camps, performing thousands of procedures. Recognizing the growing need for such services, in 2004, they established a fully equipped laparoscopy centre in Karnataka, making advanced care accessible to all sections of society.

Dr Ramesh, now the founder of the Altius Hospital chain, has so far performed approximately one lakh gynaecological laparoscopic surgeries and 9,000 laparoscopic hysterectomies. He was the first surgeon to introduce 3D laparoscopic surgery and has trained about 2,000 gynaecologists in this advanced technique.

In the village where he grew up, Dr Ramesh donated land for a government school and has been providing support for its needs for the last 10 years. He also established a clinic at the same place that operates once a week, offering free medicines to patients.

Dr Ramesh continues to visit the clinic and his village, offering free consultations and treatments. Sethu Raj, a resident of Tumakuru, recalled an experience from nearly nine years ago. He shared how, while seeking treatment for his daughter, a friend recommended Dr Ramesh, noting that the doctor does not charge a fee. From that day on, whenever Dr Ramesh visits, he calls to ask how Lakshmi, my daughter, is doing. Even with 100 people waiting, he always takes time to check on his previous patients," Sethu said.

Only green crackers this Deepavali, says Khandre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

FOREST, environment and ecology department minister Eshwar B Khandre on Saturday advised citizens and directed officials to ensure the use of only green crackers for the upcoming Deepavali celebrations. He also emphasised that noise levels must be within the permissible limit of 125 decibels and added that crackers should be burst only between 8-10 pm.

Speaking to reporters he said, officials and citizens must ensure that noise and air pollution levels are maintained. "Every year we see many children and adults suffering injuries in the eye or other burns.

Thus it is advisable to avoid bursting fire crackers but if done, safety measures must be followed," Khandre said. Further, he also reminded citizens that the National Green Tribunal and the Supreme Court have issued orders to ensure that only green crackers, which do not harm the environment are used.

He also asked educational institutions, people's representatives and environmentalists to create awareness to celebrate an environment-friendly Deepavali.

A day after BBMP cleaned flooded homes at Sai Baba Layout in Horamavu, it was flooded again after moderate to heavy rain on Saturday | EXPRESS

Residents fume as Sai Layout floods yet again

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

A DAY after the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) cleaned flooded homes at Sai Baba Layout in Horamavu Ward of KR Puram assembly constituency, residents witnessed yet another flood on Saturday following moderate to heavy rains.

Neelufur Ahmed, a teacher from Prestige School spent Rs 10,000 on her sump motors and electrical work, only to have the house flooded again. "There's about three inches of water and now I will have to arrange beds. This has been happening for the past ten years in many houses in this layout. Neither MLA Byrathi Basavaraj nor the BBMP officials are bothered about our plight," said Ahmed and dared MLA and BBMP top officials to take a house and stay in the area if at all they are concerned.

Echoing the same, another resident opined that only courts can intervene and take up suo motu and direct officials to ensure the area is not flooded. "There are children, elderly and women here. If the issue is not addressed, there will be water-borne infections and mosquito-borne diseases and many will become victims," said a senior citizen from the layout.

However, BBMP downplayed the flooding of the area on Saturday and said, the rain flooded only the streets and did not enter homes. Meanwhile, Bangalore Development Authority officials stated that the layout was developed illegally, with no authorisation from the BDA. "The development work like an additional vent below the railway bridge at the layout is being executed. At present, the storm water has only a 20-foot width area, causing flooding when water from the Hebbal-Nagawara valley upstream gushes during rains," said a BDA official.

Safe drinking water to be supplied in rural areas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

To ensure continuous and safe drinking water supply in rural areas, the Operation and Maintenance (O&M) policy was unveiled by Priyank Kharge, the Minister for Rural Development, Panchayat Raj, and IT and BT, during the Panchayat Raj Officers' conclave on Saturday. Additionally, they launched three applications to help rural communities.

The new O&M policy aims to improve the efficiency and longevity of rural water supply systems, ensuring interdepartmental coordination. Its key objectives include maintaining water infrastructure effectively in rural areas and ensuring financial, technical, and institutional sustainability at the village level. The policy will strengthen government and local bodies for efficient water service delivery, ensuring timely and quality access to water.

To address the challenges faced by rural communities, the Jeeva Jala Water Quality Application was launched at the event. This app provides real-time data on water safety, helping local authorities take timely action against contamination, ensuring that safe drinking water benefits the rural population.

The SevaDarshaka Service platform was also introduced to establish measurable parameters that can be applied to various services, enhancing accountability and transparency in the delivery of rural services.

The application for the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme aligns employment generation with sustainable development initiatives. This platform offers guaranteed wage employment to rural households and promotes the creation of durable assets that contribute to long-term economic stability in rural areas.

Speaking at the event, Priyank Kharge said, "We find ourselves at a pivotal moment in our state's development journey. The challenges in rural areas are complex, but so is our determination and innovative spirit. We recognise that the stagnation in our department's growth is our responsibility, and it is essential to implement effective measures for improvement. This conclave is more than just a meeting; it is a crucible of ideas, a platform for knowledge exchange, and a launchpad for transformative initiatives."

Chairman of KEONICS Sharath Bache Gowda said, "We must realise that of the 7 crore people in Karnataka, 5.5 crore of our citizens live in rural areas. Their development is essential for Karnataka's overall progress and it is our responsibility to implement effective measures that address their needs and challenges."

The conclave brought together key officials from various districts and departments to address essential aspects of rural development.

Govt must not act without court's nod on Chamundi Hill Act: HC

Pramoda Devi challenges validity of legislation by state government

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITHOUT the permission of the court, the state government should not take any action or decision under Sections 16 and 17 of the Shree Chamundeshwari Kshetra Development Authority Act, 2024, said the Karnataka High Court.

Justice Hemant Chandangoudar passed the interim order after hearing a petition filed by Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, wife of late Srikantadatta Narasimha Raja Wadiyar.

Pramoda Devi challenged the constitutional validity of the Act enacted by the state government. Section 16 empowers the chief minister, the ex-officio chairperson of the authority under the new Act, to take decisions without holding a meeting of the authority, but by mere circulation of the subject among the members.

Similarly, Section 17 authorises the chairman to pass orders in urgent cases without holding a meeting or circulating subject matter among the members, but take post-facto approval by placing such orders before the authority meeting.

The petitioner contended that the Act was promulgated while a legal dispute between the royal family and the state government was still pending before the high court in a writ appeal. The promulgation of the Act contravenes the Rules of Procedure of the Legislative Assembly and various provisions of the Act infringe upon their fundamental rights guaranteed under Articles 13, 25, 26, and 29 of the Constitution, she argued.

Appearing for the state, Additional Advocate General Devdas fairly conceded that pending the disposal of this writ petition, neither the movable nor the immovable properties belonging to the temple will be disposed of. He also submitted that the prevailing customs and traditions of the temple shall not be modified or interfered with during the pendency of the petition.

The court made it clear that any decision under the new Act 2024 should only be taken with the prior leave of the court. However, the pendency of this writ petition should not preclude the state government from framing appropriate Rules under the Act, it added.

The court directed the Authority to serve notices of any meetings to the petitioner. In the event that the petitioner chooses not to attend or participate in the proceedings, the Authority is at liberty to take decisions in accordance with the provisions of the Act, it said.

On Friday night, the victim -- Rajesh (36), a resident of Nagadevanahalli and a cab driver, smashed the glass windows and started kicking the gate after returning home drunk .

Cong govt will fall, will be CM again before 2028: HDK

ENS @ Mandya

UNION Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy expressed confidence that he would become the chief minister of Karnataka once again as the present Congress government will not last till 2028.

Speaking to the media in Mandya on Saturday, Kumaraswamy said that people of the state would once again give him the opportunity to serve as the CM before 2028. The state JDS chief also appealed to the people to give him a five-year term as he had contributed for the state's welfare even when he was at the mercy of others.

The Congress government will not complete its full term as the party's own legislators will bring down the government, Kumaraswamy added. He, however, clarified that JDS will not destabilise the government but the Congress will implode very soon.

He observed that many Ruling party legislators are not visiting villages and many are upset with the functioning of the government.

"Given a chance, I will work hard and make Karnataka prosperous. No family should seek help for their livelihood and they must be equipped with skills so that they can earn at least Rs 10,000 a month. There is a need to put an end to looting of resources and state's exchequer," he added.

Recalling that he had planned the Disneyland-style amusement project at KRS to generate 50,000 jobs, Kumaraswamy said the project could not take off after his government collapsed.

BJP declares Bharat Bommai for Shiggaon, Bangara for Sandur

Former CM met Yediyurappa, struck a deal with high command

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE suspense over two of the three seats facing the bypolls on November 13 ended with BJP on Saturday declaring former chief minister and Haveri MP Basavaraj Bommai's son Bharat Bommai as its candidate for Shiggaon and Bangara Hanumanta for Sandur (ST reserved seat).

The Channapatna imbroglio over selecting a consensus candidate from NDA continued. Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy is likely to take a final decision whether to field his son Nikhil or sacrifice the seat to BJP MLC CP Yogeshwar. The discussions are underway to field a consensus candidate to take on the might of DCM DK Shivakumar and his younger brother DK Suresh.

For Bharat, the Shiggaon bypoll will mark his debut into electoral politics. Shiggaon fell vacant after his father Basavaraj Bommai won the Haveri Lok Sabha seat. Though Basavaraj Bommai had claimed just a few days ago that he was not pushing his son's candidature, he managed to strike a deal with the high command. Bommai met BJP parliamentary board member BS Yediyurappa and took him into confidence, sources said.

Former minister Murugesh Nirani, who had lobbied for the seat and hails from Bagalkot, had apprehension over migrating to Shiggaon.

Bharath, a 35-year-old MBA graduate from Singapore Management University, has done his BS in Engineering at Purdue University. He is a successful entrepreneur.

The Sandur candidate, Bangara Hanumanta, had been denied a ticket by the party on earlier occasions. But his selection may have made some members of BJP, like Gangavathy MLA Gali Janardhana Reddy, unhappy. Reddy had landed at Sandur, expecting his loyalist KS Divakar to get the BJP ticket. It remains to be seen whether he will work promptly for Bangara. The seat fell vacant after Tukaram went on to become Ballari MP. Now, Bangara is likely to take on Tukaram's wife E Annapoorna who is most likely to be the Congress candidate. Tukaram's daughter Souparnika's name too is making rounds.

Bharat joins league of ex-CMs' children

Bharat Bommai has joined the league of former chief ministers' sons making electoral debut. Former CM BS Yediyurappa's sons B Y Vijayendra, who is state BJP chief, and BY Raghavendra, Shivamogga MP, had tasted success on their debut. But former CM HD Kumaraswamy's son Nikhil faced back-to-back defeats.

HDK has surrenders Ch'patna to BJP, says DKS

As the mindgame among three political parties over the selection of candidates for the Channapatna bypoll continues, DCM DK Shivakumar on Saturday said he got information that HD Kumaraswamy could sacrifice the seat to BJP.

"But I cannot authenticate the veracity of news," he said after meeting Channapatna Congress leaders.

Bill to refuse registration of fake papers gets Prez nod

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Registration (Karnataka Amendment) Bill, 2023, received the President's assent on October 8.

The Bill to give powers to the Registrar to refuse registration of forged documents and other documents prohibited by law was tabled in the Assembly in July 2023. It was sent for approval by the Centre.

The amended Act gives powers to the district Registrar, either suo motu or on a complaint, to cancel registration of forged documents in certain cases, and also gives provision to appeal against the order of the District Registrar.

"The District Registrar, either suo motu or on a complaint received from any aggrieved person, is of the opinion that registration of a document is made in contravention of Section 22-B shall issue a notice to the executants and all the parties to the document and parties to subsequent documents, if any, and all other persons who, in the opinion of the District Registrar, may be affected by the cancellation of the document, to show cause as to why the registration of the document shall not be cancelled. On consideration of reply, if any received therefor, the District Registrar may cancel the registration of the document and cause to enter such cancellation in the relevant books and indexes," it stated.

It makes the provision to impose penalties for the registration of forged documents and also to deal with the registration of forged documents by companies.

MUDA burden gets heavier on CM, Cong central leaders

AFTER its shock defeat in Haryana, a mellowed-down Congress leadership would be more accommodative of its INDIA bloc allies in Maharashtra. While they will be looking to make all-out efforts to take on the BJP-led alliance, the latest developments in Karnataka could further dampen their spirits as the central agency steps up its probe into high-profile cases against Congress leaders.

The Enforcement Directorate's surprise raids on the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) office on Friday indicate that the developments in the next few days could weigh heavily on Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his government. The MUDA is at the centre of the high-profile case allotting 14 sites in an upmarket locality in Mysuru to Siddaramaiah's wife Parvathy. She recently returned the sites to MUDA, but the case continues.

Some top officials in the state government feel that in the next few weeks, the central agency is likely to speed up ongoing probes in the MUDA case and the multi-crore irregularities in the Maharishi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation (MVSTDC). Interestingly, that coincides with electioneering gathering pace in the neighbouring state.

In the MUDA case, serious allegations were made against the CM, his family members, and others, while in the MVSTDC scam, a former minister and senior officials were arrested. In the latter, funds meant for the welfare of the scheduled tribes were illegally diverted to private accounts and allegedly used in the 2024 Lok Sabha polls. The government has claimed that the Special Investigation Team (SIT) has recovered Rs 71.54 crore that was diverted, and it would recover the remaining Rs 13 crore as well. The SIT and the ED are parallelly investigating the case. Perhaps, the central agency's probe makes those in power in the state apprehensive.

The developments in these cases would certainly trouble Congress central leaders, who would have otherwise projected the "Karnataka model" of governance and its guarantee schemes in the Maharashtra polls. However, these issues may not have a direct impact on voters in the neighboring states. At best, they may resonate to a limited extent among the people in the constituencies that share borders with Karnataka or have a significant presence of Kannadigas settled in Maharashtra.

Its stupendous victory in the 2023 assembly polls in Karnataka gave a big boost to the Grand Old Party which had almost lost the art of winning polls and morale among its cadre had hit rock bottom. Karnataka gave that booster dose. In the ensuing assembly polls as well as the Lok Sabha elections earlier this year, the Congress portrayed its Karnataka model of governance to woo voters.

However, after the high-profile cases, the party will be cautious in employing the same tactics as that could prove counter-productive. In fact, during the Haryana elections, Prime Minister Narendra Modi referred to the MUDA sites allotment case against the CM to slam Congress. The PM's remarks had invited a sharp rebuttal from Siddaramaiah. "Don't fire shots from afar, Mr. Modi. If you're ready for a direct debate, I am always ready," the angry CM had hit back at the PM for his remarks during the elections in the North Indian state.

Now, more and more such shots are likely to be fired, not from afar, but during the intensely fought polls in neighboring Maharashtra. The BJP is likely to use developments in Karnataka to put the Congress central leaders on the defensive. The BJP's top leaders will play up the MUDA and ST Corporation cases, especially during the rallies in the border districts.

BJP leaders from Karnataka have been deputed in 58 assembly segments, which either share the border with Karnataka or have a significant presence of Kannadigas. Many of them have been working on the ground for a month and they will all be stationed in their respective constituencies from next week.

Not just BJP, even many senior leaders from the state Congress have also been deputed for election duty in Maharashtra.

While the investigation in both cases is likely to enter a crucial phase, many wonder why the Chief Minister has not yet appealed against the High Court judgment. The High Court, while dismissing his plea questioning the Governor's decision to accord permission for prosecution, had made many scathing remarks against the CM.

As the ED reaches his home district, it is interesting to see how Siddaramaiah responds to the developments in the case as well as the BJP's strategy to target him to put Congress on the defensive.

'Pralhad has nothing to do with case'

"I published an advertisement in local dailies on November 9, 2012, stating that whosoever quotes my name for getting work done or any such claims that they are relatives, brother, friends, etc., I am in no way connected and responsible for such claims," Pralhad Joshi stated. Meanwhile, Sunita told reporters on Saturday that Pralhad Joshi has nothing to do with the case.

The accused has misused his name, she added. She, however, said that she gave Rs 25 lakh to Gopal Joshi for the MP ticket. As it was not returned, she approached the police.

We gave up Kolar seat to JDS, now it's JDS' turn: BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS things get murkier over the BJP-JDS consensus candidate for the bypoll to the Channapatna Assembly seat, the BJP has now initiated a plan against the JDS. "Didn't we give the Kolar Lok Sabha seat to the JDS in 2024, which we won during the 2019 Lok Sabha election? On that note, we urge the JDS to give up the Channapatna constituency to the BJP," BJP spokesperson Ashwath Narayan Gowda said, responding to a query during a press conference at Ramanagara on Saturday.

In the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, Gowda had garnered 6,71,338 votes, with the BJP candidate giving a tough fight to DK Suresh, who had then contested as the Congress-JDS alliance candidate for the Bengaluru Rural seat, and had won by securing 8,78,258 votes. The Bengaluru Rural Lok Sabha constituency also consists of the Channapatna Assembly segment.

Gowda put forth a logic that despite the BJP holding the Kolar seat through then MP Muniswami, it was sacrificed to the JDS, and the latter strove for the victory of JDS candidate Mallesh Babu."In Channapatna, BJP MLC CP Yogeshwara will be the NDA candidate and we (the alliance partners) will work for his victory, regardless of party," he said.

He predicted that Yogeshwara's victory is certain, as even the ordinary worker of the party has realised it. "Apart from Yogeshwara, only Union minister HD Kumaraswamy has the potential to win there. The leaders of both the parties are holding a meeting about the ticket and finally Yogeshwara's name will be finalised. The situation of him entering the fray independently does not not arise," he said.

"Yogeshwara is a tactful politician, who started in politics by winning as an independent. When he was denied a ticket, he got a ticket from the Samajwadi Party and managed to win the seat by sporting a red hat. He has mastery over electioneering," he remarked.

MUDA files burnt, says Karandlaje, seeks arrest of Byrathi Suresh

BENGALURU: Union minister Shobha Karandlanje on Saturday alleged that the documents taken away from the MUDA were burnt to destroy evidence in the case. Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh should be arrested immediately and investigated, she demanded. Karandlanje alleged that Suresh took the files related to the allotment of sites after 1997 from the MUDA office. "Suresh had gone to Mysuru and brought all the files. Where are those files? The files were burnt," she alleged. Questioning CM Siddaramaiah for accepting MUDA chairman Mari Gowda's resignation, Karandlaje said they are now going to blame him for the scam. She demanded Siddaramaiah's resignation as he was holding a constitutional post when MUDA took the decision to allot sites to his wife. Siddaramaiah's son Dr Yathindra, who was an MLA at that time, was present in the meeting, she alleged.

Returning the sites was an admission of crime, she said. "During his first term as CM, Siddaramaiah tried to weaken the Lokayukta to protect himself from the cases. He also faces an allegation of taking Rs 1.3 crore for an appointment of a steward in the turf club," she alleged. In the ST Corporation case, funds from the government treasury were transferred to the Congress for elections, she said. ENS

PARVATHI BOUGHT LAND ON SIDDU'S DIRECTION: ACTIVIST

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

ACTIVIST Gangaraju on Saturday said Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's wife Parvathi had purchased a piece of land owned by one AS Ganesh Dikshith at Hebbal, opposite KIADB office, in Mysuru taluk for Rs 1.85 crore.

Dikshith owned four acres and 11 guntas of land bearing survey No 445 at Hebbal Industrial Area. He got 20 guntas of land converted for residential purpose by Mysuru Urban Developement Authority (MUDA) in 2018. He handed over 47.48 sq metres of land for a drinking water pipeline project from KRS Dam to Mysuru and for road widening project to MUDA.

He also got 18.5 guntas of land for non-industrial purposes, he said.Gangaraju alleged that Parvathi, who purchased the land from Dikshith, got it transferred to her name on September 29, 2023. Instead of registering 1187.97 sqm (12.78 sqft), Parvathi got 20 guntas (2023.42 sqm - 21.771 sqft) of land, including 8998 sqm of land, which was handed over for pipeline and road widening projects."

After the irregularities came to my knowledge, I applied for documents from MUDA through RTI. When Parvathi learnt this, she immediately submitted an application for correction in the sale deed at the sub-registrar's office on August 31, 2024. She got 12,782 sqm registered and left the rest for the pipeline and road projects," he said.

Pointing out that Parvathi, who is a housewife and has no source of income, had purchased the land using the money given by her husband Siddaramaiah, Gangaraju alleged that she bought the land on Siddaramaiah's direction.

Security enhanced at the Mysuru Urban Development Authority office during the raid by the ED in Mysuru on Saturday | UDAYASHANKAR S

"She grabbed the government land meant for road widening and pipeline projects. As Siddaramaiah is directly involved in the irregularities, I will file a complaint with the governor next week, seeking permission to prosecute Siddaramaiah," he said.

ED continues raid

Sleuths of the Enforcement Directorate (ED) continued their raid on the MUDA office for the second day on Saturday. They went through various documents and records related to irregularities in allotment of sites, including those alloted to Parvathi, till 11.30 pm on Friday under tight security.

Personnel from CRPF camped at the MUDA office on Friday night.Twelve sleuths, who returned to the MUDA office with two hard disks on Saturday morning, continued their investigation. They were assisted by FSL officials from Bengaluru.According to sources, the FSL team was summoned to verify the document where whitener was used and discrepancies in Parvathi's signature.

The sleuths are said to be examining the original documents related to the transfer of 3.16 acres of land at Kesare from one Ninga to his son J Devaraju, which was later purchased by Parvathi's brother Mallikarjuna Swamy.

The sleuths interrogated the officials of Mysuru Urban Developement Authority's record room and executive engineers on the authenticity of signatures of those involved in the land deal. The sleuths even summoned MUDA Commissioner AN Raghunandan and Secretary Prasanna Kumar for questioning.

IT IS BJP'S NAVYA VS PRIYANKA IN WAYANAD

Candidate is youth face of saffron party in Malabar; Bypoll after Rahul Gandhi vacated seat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Thiruvananthapuram

Priyanka Gandhi and Navya Haridas

THE BJP on Saturday announced its candidates for the upcoming byelections in the Wayanad Lok Sabha constituency and Palakkad and Chelakkara Assembly seats.

The party has fielded Navya Haridas, Mahila Morcha state general secretary, in Wayanad against Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra. The party national leadership also announced the candidature of state general secretary C Krishna Kumar in the Palakkad assembly constituency and K Balakrishnan in the Chelakkara reserved constituency. The elections will be held on November 13 and counting of votes is slated for November 23.

Navya, the youth face of the BJP in Malabar, is a two-time representative of the party in Kozhikode corporation. She also serves as the BJP parliamentary party leader in the corporation. The party had fielded her in the 2021 assembly polls from Kozhikode South, but lost the election.

The Wayanad seat fell vacant after Congress leader Rahul Gandhi vacated the seat by resigning. He decided to retain the Rae Bareli Lok Sabha seat from Uttar Pradesh. The CPI has fielded its senior leader Sathyan Mokeri in Wayanad.

In Palakkad constituency, Krishna Kumar will take on CPM independent candidate and former Congress leader P Sarin and Congress candidate Rahul Mamkoottathil.

Palakkad being a stronghold of the BJP, the party has placed high hopes in Krishna Kumar. With Krishna Kumar's candidature, the constituency is set to witness a tight triangular contest. Metroman E Sreedharan, who was the BJP candidate, had finished second in the 2021 assembly polls in Palakkad.

K Balakrishnan, the BJP candidate in Chelakkara, is the former vice-president of Thiruvilwamala panchayat.

Siddu to take up SC quota issue at next cabinet meet

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Chief Secretary Shalini Rajaneesh and others at a meeting on internal reservation in Bengaluru on Saturday

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah, who met leaders from the Scheduled Caste (SC) left Madiga community -- including ministers KH Muniyappa and RB Timmapur at his residence Krishna here on Saturday, asked Chief Secretary Dr Shalini Rajneesh to list the classification of SC quota for discussion at the next cabinet meeting on October 24.

She will study the case of Tamil Nadu, which implemented the quota classification a long time ago by managing to get it included in the 9th Schedule of the Constitution, and also the model in Haryana.

The cabinet meeting is likely to decide to set up a cabinet subcommittee to study the issue. The Supreme Court had ruled on August 1 this year that respective state governments can decide on classification of SC quota. The cabinet subcommittee will recommend the distribution of quota among 101 different castes within the SC category, proportion to their population, sources told TNSE.

As the Congress high command wants to take credit for implementing the quota classification across all state governments ruled by the party simultaneously, Siddaramaiah said he will consult the party top brass, especially Rahul Gandhi, to initiate the process. He also promised to review the Justice AJ Sadashiva commission report on the same issue which was rejected by the previous Basavaraj Bommai government. The then BJP government had later accepted the report submitted by a subcommittee headed by then law minister JC Madhu Swamy. This would mean that the present Congress government could nullify Madhu Swamy report and revisit Justice Sadashiva commission recommendations, a leader said.

At the meeting on Saturday, the SC left community leaders, including former Rajy Sabha member Dr L Hanumanthaiah and former minister H Anjaneya, convinced the CM about the urgency needed in implementing classified quota and insisted that the government should stall all recruitment processes in different departments till quota classification is implemented.

Ahead of the cabinet meeting on October 24, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara will on October 21 hold a meeting of a committee of all SC community legislators, including those representing SC (right), Bhovis and Lambanis. They are likely to arrive at a consensus, making it easy for the CM to take a decision in the cabinet by ensuring that no community turns averse to the proposal.

Already, legislators with former minister and Malavalli MLA PM Narendraswamy as co-convener of the committee that includes minister Shivaraj Tangadagi and MLC Dr Sudham Das have held several rounds of deliberations.

"There are over 30,000 jobs for which the government has issued the notifications and if the classification of quota is not implemented as soon as possible, it will again result in injustice to these communities," a leader said.

Leopard mauls four-year-old girl to death near Valparai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Coimbatore

A four-year-old girl hailing from Jharkhand was mauled to death by a leopard at Oosimalai near Valparai in the Anamalai Tiger Reserve (ATR) around 2 pm on Saturday.

According to sources, the deceased has been identified as A Apsara. She had been staying with her father Anil Ansari, mother and aunt, at the PKT Tea Estate in Oosimalai Mattam for the past year, where they worked as labourers.

On Saturday, following a death in their area, Apsara's mother and aunt did not go to work. Later in the day, they took the girl along to collect greens near the estate. The leopard attack took place when Apsara was sitting alone on a rock, watching the women, sources said.

According to Valparai Forest Range Officer G Venkatesh, "It is a very sad and unfortunate incident. The animal spotted the child alone on the rock and pounced on her from behind. Hearing her screams, Apasara's mother who was picking up greens, rushed to the spot, causing the leopard to flee back into the bushes. However, she suffered scratches on her neck and shoulders, leading to damage to the nervous system. She lost a lot of blood in the attack and died as a result."

Valparai forest range staff arranged ₹50,000 cash as immediate relief for the parents.

An autopsy will be performed on Sunday, and the body will then be handed over to the parents, sources said.

Advice of government binds Guv under Article 161, rules Madras HC

R SIVAKUMAR @ Chennai

HOLDING that the governor is bound to act as per the recommendations of the state cabinet under Article 161 of the Constitution in the case of premature release of prisoners, the Madras High Court has disapproved Governor R N Ravi's decision to reject the advice of the government to release a life convict.

The governor had rejected the premature release of the prisoner, who has been lodged in the prison for more than 20 years, citing the nature of the crime.

"The power of an appropriate government to issue general or special orders allowing remissions is traceable under Section 432 CrPC and the policies in question are statutory in nature. In the context of the above policy (on premature release), the power under Article 161 can be exercised by the state government, and not by the governor on his own. The advice of the appropriate government binds the Head of the State," said a division bench of Justices S M Subramaniam and V Sivagnanam in a recent order.

The bench further elaborated that the law laid down by a catena of judgments of high court is well settled that the advice of the State Cabinet is binding on the governor in the exercise of his power under Article 161. Non-exercise of the power under Article 161 or inexplicable delay in exercise of such power that is not attributable to the prisoner is subject to judicial review of the court, the bench noted.

The order was passed on a petition filed by Veera Bharathi, a 53-year-old life convict, seeking premature release. He was sentenced to death, along with two others, in 1999 by a court in Virudhnagar district, for rape and murder. The sentence was commuted to life by the Madras High Court in 2000. His co-accused Ilangovan was prematurely released.

Veera Bharathi filed an application in 2024 seeking premature release with the state government, which decided to release him, but the governor rejected the decision. Subsequently, the government accepted the governor's decision and issued another order not to release him. Challenging this, he approached the court.

Advocate R Sankarasubbu, assisted by D Mario Johnson, submitted that the governor accepted the state government's decision to release co-accused Ilangovan but rejected the decision regarding Veera Bharathi who has completed more than 20 years in jail. The nature of crime is insignificant for consideration of premature releases, which are done as per the government's policy.

The bench said, "We are of the considered opinion that the opinion formed by the governor may not be wholly relevant with reference to the commission of offence by the petitioner in the case." The governor has also not considered the fact that the co-accused was already prematurely released, the bench said, adding that it would be insufficient to merely reject an application for premature release on the ground of the offence. However, the bench held that premature release is not an absolute right.

MoS Bandi detained amid Group-1 exam stir

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

HUNDREDS of Group-I aspirants marched towards the Secretariat on Saturday, demanding the rescheduling of examinations amid ongoing uncertainties. The protest, which marked its fourth day, saw police detaining several protestors and politicians, including BJP leader and Minister of State for Home Affairs Bandi Sanjay.

The protests intensified when the minister engaged with the candidates at Ashok Nagar, while he climbed onto a car to address the protesters, leading to his preventive custody by the police.

With exams scheduled for Monday, many protesters rallied with placards, voicing concerns over GO 29 and the sudden invalidation of study materials. They argued that GO 29 undermines fair reservation rights of students from SC, ST and BC communities, urging to reschedule the exam. The aspirants wrote a letter to the Telangana Chief Secretary Santhi Kumari outlining their concerns and criticising the police for using force against peaceful protesters. "Allow us to voice our grievances without fear of violence or retaliation," the letter stated.

In response, Telangana Director General of Police Jitender cited a court order and stated that they were merely implementing the orders. "If there are grievances, they can appeal to a higher court. They are causing inconvenience to the general public, what do we do?" he remarked.

Later in the day, BRS leader RS Praveen Kumar joined the protest but was also detained. He condemned GO 29 as unconstitutional, alleging: "It's a conspiracy to reserve the open category posts only to the rich among upper castes and cronies".

Meanwhile, Telangana CM A Revanth Reddy urged the aspirants to withdraw their protests and take the exams, asserting GO 29 was intended to ensure justice for all and had court backing.

"THIS is not just the case of gloves. Many essential medicines and other supplies are diverted or hoarded and fake documents are created to manipulate inventory levels. We wrote several letters to the managing director in this regard a few months ago. But no action has been taken so far," said an employee of Karnataka State Medical Supplies Corporation Ltd.

The source said apart from these irregularities, many officials would go on 'long leave' and sign the attendance register once they return. Some even claim fuel expenses for supplying medicines to government hospitals by producing fake bills.

Huge rush in Sabarimala, 6-hour wait for darshan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Pathanamthitta/Sabarimala

THE Sabarimala temple which is open for five-day monthly poojas witnessed an unprecedented rush of devotees on Saturday, with thousands waiting in long queues for hours for their turn to have darsan.

As the queue extended beyond Saramkuthi when the temple was opened at 5 am, the pilgrims were forced to wait for darsan for almost six hours.

When the large number of pilgrims swelled to unprecedented levels, the Travancore Devaswom Board (TDB) changed the timings of darsan extending three hours to manage the situation.

This led to continued darsan until 3 pm instead of the usual closing time of 1 pm.

In the evening, the temple reopened at 4 pm, an hour earlier than the scheduled time of 5 pm.

The surge of pilgrims, which began in the early hours of the day, kept the authorities on high alert with the police personnel swinging into action to control the heavy flow of devotees.

An additional 150 police personnel, including officers, in addition to the existing police force on duty, were deployed to control the heavy flow.

Newly introduced safari in MM Hills a hit among tourists

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THE safari introduced in MM Hills by the Karnataka Forest Department has become a big hit among tourists, not just from the state but also from neighbouring Tamil Nadu.

The safari was introduced last year by the forest department in the TG Palya range of Male Mahadeshwara Hills Wildlife Sanctuary adjoining Biligiri Rangaswamy Temple Tiger Reserve. The area also adjoins the newly declared Sathyamangalam Tiger Reserve in Tamil Nadu. The safari route is 18 km long.

The safari has become a hit and is drawing tourists, even as the Karnataka forest department has shelved the proposal of pursuing with the Union Government to declare MM Hills and Kudremukh as tiger reserves. MM Hills was declared a wildlife sanctuary in 2013, and an action management plan for improving ecotourism was finalised in 2019.

Trials were on till October 2023, after which permission for additional trials was given for six months. Till now, over 10,000 people have visited the safari.

"As there is no option for safari in Sathyamangalam, visitors from there also come here. Though no agreement has been signed, the officials in Tamil Nadu have been informed of the safari in MM Hills. The declaration of the tiger reserve in Tamil Nadu is helping us," said a senior Karnataka forest department official.

Deputy Conservator of Forests, MM Hills, Dr Santosh Kumar G, said there are homestays in Sathyamangalam where tourists stay and come for safaris to MM Hills. Visitors to Kollegal and the Tibetan settlement also come to MM Hills.

There are a total of three safari vehicles plying on the stretch, making four trips daily. In the coming days, the Karnataka forest department is also working on constructing a guesthouse near Uduthore Dam for visitors.

MM Hills is home to a healthy wildlife population, and tourists have recorded sightings of spotted deer, sambars, dholes, elephants, leopards, and tigers. The area is free of human habitation; hence, sightings are natural. Since the safari route is new, the animal sightings are natural and are gradually increasing, Kumar added.

At the end of the day, a key to realising reform is to make the powerful feel the pain of the status quo

MARKETS SENSE THE SCENT OF A SLOWDOWN

THE THIRD EYE

SHANKKAR AIYAR
Author of The Gated Republic, Aadhaar: A Biometric History of India's 12 Digit Revolution, and Accidental India
(shankkar.aiyar@gmail.com)

IT is flowing out in dribs and drabs and is not yet a deluge of dismal news. As high-frequency growth indicators flash amber and red the stock markets seem to sense the scent of a slowdown.

This week, India's savers were informed that foreign portfolio investors sold stocks worth $8.4 billion just in October, surpassing the levels recorded in March 2020. The exodus and dips in the Nifty50—only partly explained by the lure of China—are fuelled by fears of slowing growth and deceleration in earnings.

The pixels of the picture spell the story. On August 8, the Reserve Bank of India presented a bullish outlook for the economy, projecting GDP growth for the year at 7.2 percent. Governor Shaktikanta Das stated that India's GDP will grow at 7.1 percent in the first quarter, 7.2 per cent in the second, 7.3 per cent in Q3 and 7.2 per cent in Q4. Three weeks later, the Ministry of Statistics informed that India's GDP growth had slowed down to 6.7 per cent in the first quarter.

On October 9, the RBI recorded that growth was slower in Q1 but maintained that GDP growth in Q2 would be 7.2 percent. The forecast could be challenged if the slowdown visible in data on index of industrial production (IIP) persists. On October 11, MOSPI revealed that IIP contracted in August 2024—it was at (-) 0.1 percent compared to 4.7 percent in July 2024. The granular details are stark—the labour-intensive mining sector contracted by (-) 4.3 percent, electricity by (-) 3.7 percent, while manufacturing grew by just 1 percent. Yes, high-frequency data is frequently volatile. But equally the contraction merits attention –particularly when bank lending is also slowing.

The deterioration in output and consumption is captured in data on revenue collections. Goods and Services Tax collections for September 2024 at ₹1.73 lakh crore grew at 6.5 percent, slower than in recent years with seven states recording negative growth. Collections in many states were lower than the national average of 6.5 percent. Hope seems to rest on a revival of demand in the festive season!

The elephant in the room is the gap between desire and ability for consumption—and it is afflicted by poor wage growth in rural areas, food price inflation and youth unemployment. There is little dispute over the distress in the bottom half of the income pyramid—the magnitude of electoral sops unveiled by political parties illustrates this eloquently. Worsening this is the cost of money and poor access to credit for small borrowers.

The impact is visible in sales reports rolling out of companies. A report published by analysts of Motilal Oswal Financial Services estimates that the second quarter will see the slowest earnings growth for Nifty companies in 17 quarters. Uncertainty daunts small and big companies—Dabur issued lower earnings guidance for the quarter, IT giant TCS revealed a decline in profits for the first time since 2019 and mega corp Reliance Industries missed analysts' estimates following weaker margins.

Automobile sales are seen as a bell-weather indicator by markets. This week, Bajaj Auto cautioned markets that two-wheeler sales may grow by barely 5 percent this year. Industry data underlined growing fears—sales of passenger vehicles dipped 19 percent, commercial vehicles slid 10.9 percent and two wheelers fell by 9 percent. For sure, the coincidence of heavy rains and inauspicious pitru-paksha matters, but so does the baffling 80-plus days of inventory pile-up with dealers.

Money makes the mare go around and fuels consumption and growth. Consider the fiscal flux first. India's growth story has largely been propelled by government investment, and the elections did disrupt expenditure and growth. The consensus view was that front loading of public sector capital expenditure would nudge private capex and drive growth.

It turns out capital expenditure declined across states on a year-on-year basis between April and August. This week, ratings agency ICRA reported that states will miss the yearly target for capex and 13 states will witness a slippage in deficit targets. Indeed, Sonal Varma and others at Nomura in a report this week characterised the slowdown as "the growth glass looks half empty", cited proprietary indices to quantify the slowdown and pegged GDP growth this year lower than RBI at 6.8 percent.

Growth requires alignment of fiscal and monetary policies—efficiency in how the government enables absorption of allocations, how it spends and the cost of money. The RBI has sustained high interest rates for over 20 months. This despite the fact that central banks are lowering the cost of money–the US Federal Reserve and the European Central Bank cut interest rates to sustain growth. In January, it argued that food price inflation was outside its realm and in August, it argued that it is obliged to bring it down. Meanwhile, food inflation has persisted above 7 percent. The RBI seems to harbour the notion that growth can be sacrificed even though it is clear the implications are dire for India's demography.

It is true that India is an outlier in a global context. That said, India's relative merit rests on domestic growth—particularly when global trade and investment flows are challenged by the confluence of tidal waves of geopolitics. Sustaining the aspirations of a billion-plus populace calls for attention and action. The issue is not how India does in comparison to others but how well it does relative to its potential.

OMAR MUST JUGGLE DNA TO RESTORE PARADISE

POWER & POLITICS

PRABHU CHAWLA
prabhuchawla@newindianexpress.com

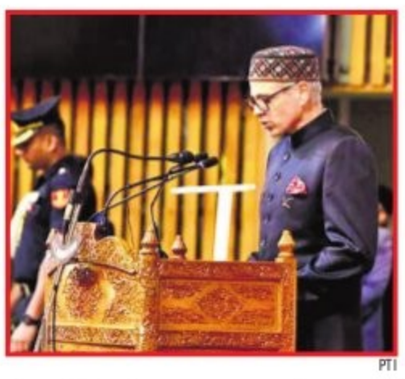
YOU can take the Kashmir out of Abdullah but you cannot take the Abdullah out of Kashmir. Last week, J&K's new Chief Minister Omar Abdullah posted on X: "I am back"—a Kashmiri Schwarzenegger acting as The Terminator who incinerated his political enemies. With 3.2 million followers, the 54-year-old, British-born, third-generation Abdullah's post was a deadly DNA denouement. During his swearing-in ceremony, he followed the family tradition of donning a sherwani and pajama which signaled locality, heredity and continuity. His political pedigree mandates he favours both more power for the UT (read himself) and dialogue with Pakistan and that Jammu and Kashmir is different from other states. Omar, too, is different now. He is J&K's first CM to swear by the Indian Constitution after Article 370 was flung into the trashcan of turbulent history. Perhaps the years out of power has endowed him with painful pragmatism: He has figured he, and his party, the National Conference, must live with a new political reality. He has taken over a Naya Kashmir where genuine secularism and Kashmiriyat must be restored sooner than later. The Abdullahs always demanded more autonomy for Kashmir. That ship has sailed on Dal Lake. Though they are the Valley's uncrowned monarchs who democratically replaced the Dogra dynasty, saffron ideology calls the shots in Jammu. For the sake of forward momentum and political peace, the twain shall have to meet; Omar must take the lead and walk the extra mile. In Kashmir, over a lakh of civilians and uniformed forces have been killed since 1990. In 2024, voters have given Omar a triumphant mandate for development and dignity. In spite of the pluses of his modern image and assertive attitude, Abdullah Junior's is a throne of thorns. Even with democratic endorsement, Omar must adopt a realistic perspective and ensure programme-based governance which was in the ICU so far.

For this, J&K needs political and economic stability more than anything else. It is perhaps the only state in which President's rule has been imposed 11 times as against 8 chief ministers since 1951. It has undergone the longest spell of Central rule. First for six years from 1990 to 1996, and from 2019 to September 2024 post its Union Territory avatar. Omar's grandfather Sheikh Abdullah, who was Kashmir's first elected chief minister governed for almost five years before he was arrested on Nehru's orders. Next, two Congress Chief Ministers Bakshi Gulam Mohammed and Gulam Mohammed Sadiq ran J&K for six to ten years. However, the three Abdullahs hold the record for ruling their mountain fiefdom for the longest time: a combined 34 years. Sheikh Abdullah was prime minister of Kashmir first, and subsequently the minister for over 17 years over four different terms. The art of governance runs in their genes. The family knows and understands the grammar and glamour of power.



PTI

Omar begins his second innings with a few advantages, but fewer odds for efficacy. Not only does his party enjoy an almost majority on its own, it can afford to ignore separatist pressure. Almost all fringe parties fathered to ensure a hung Assembly have been roundly defeated. Mehbooba Mufti-led People's Democratic Party lost decisively and doesn't even represent the Valley now—the Abdullahs captured almost three-fourths of the seats and about half-a-dozen in Jammu. Therein lies the rub. Omar's staunch rival BJP has not only swept the Jammu region by winning 29 seats, it also polled the largest percentage of votes (25.69), which is higher than NC's (23.47). The Congress which dominated the state for many decades won a paltry six seats with just 12 percent of the vote.

Omar has begun his second innings well by making the correct noises and raising the right voices. Following the footsteps of his grandfather and father, he has given reasonable representation to the Jammu region by choosing a tribal Hindu as deputy chief minister. The Sheikh's Cabinet comprised one third Kashmiri Pandits and other Hindus. NC would win a respectable number of seats from Jammu region as well. This time, Jammu voted for the central government's initiative to change the geographical and administrative structure of the state. While the Centre is committed to restoring statehood, it is unlikely that Article 370 will make a comeback. The Abdullahs have realised this. Soon after becoming chief minister, Omar reluctantly conceded in an interview: "Forget Article 370 and fight for full statehood with powers which are available to other states. None of us are foolish enough, nor did we try and convince the voters that we were going to work on our 370 agenda with this current (Modi) government in Delhi. We know that you are not going to get it back from the government that took it away. So set that aside for now." It's now for Modi to also show magnanimity by returning all the powers of the State which were taken away in 2019 and by subsequent administrative orders.

Evidently his endeavor would be to ensure better stewardship of his strife torn state, which can't happen if he opts for confrontation with the Modi government. In the complicated matrix of Kashmir politics, he is expected to mount pressure on the Centre to restore full statehood with the same administrative and legislative powers other states enjoy. But he has been advised to keep in mind what happened to Delhi's Arvind Kejriwal who took on Modi directly. Ideological wars shouldn't decide the fate of good governance. Moreover, Omar is not hamstrung by any illusionary ambition of becoming one of the numerous Opposition PM candidates. It would be prudent for him to consolidate J&K's gains made during Central rule. Since terror attacks are comparatively less, tourists are flocking to the state. The central government has released liberal funds for the completion of many infrastructure projects. At present J&K with $28 billion SGDP ranks 21 in the all India ranking of states. Omar's priorities are to get more investment in J&K, revive its handicrafts and tourism sectors and create a confident communal concord. He has promised the return of the Kashmiri Pandits. Age is on his side. He must restore Kashmir's original glory as the Switzerland of India. In 1982, Sheikh Abdullah reportedly demanded a Responsible Government: "We do not demand a responsible government for 80 lakhs Muslims only but all the 100% state subjects". Sher-e-Kashmir drifted from his original convictions later. His grandson's future will begin on a golden note if Omar follows the better part of the past. Kashmir belongs to all Indians just as India does to all Kashmiris. It is not relevant whether it is Jahangir or Amir Khusro, who said, "Gar firdaus bar-rue zamin ast, hami asto, hamin asto, hamin ast." (If there is ever a heaven on earth, it's here, it's here, it's here.). What matters is whether Omar can recreate a democratic paradise on an earth that has soaked up the blood of too many innocents.

COME elections, and newspaper front pages and social media timelines are full of new hospitals being launched or their foundation stones being laid, mostly in poll-bound states. Thousands of crores are being spent on these planned hospitals. On the face of it, it seems like a noble thing to do, much needed in society.

However, what percentage of this are we spending on preventing the diseases? How much are we spending on eradicating the factors that cause these diseases, especially the ones that come due to chemical-infested food or lifestyle? We design cities and roads only for vehicles, close all walking spaces, and then insist people visit gyms to exercise. Just leave some open space for people to walk for their daily needs, and we may need less hospitals.

The same goes for many solutions for our basic needs, like water purifiers for clean potable water. Every few years, we have a new technology to handle the new kinds of pollutants in our water. Stop and think, where are these new pollutants coming from? Current generations may find it difficult to believe that just 2-3 decades ago, we could easily drink tap water on railway stations across the country without getting diseases or creating piles of plastic waste. The focus today is on delivering water in plastic bottles or containers.

We rarely read about efforts to clean our ground water or making sure the water coming from our tap is clean enough for human consumption. Water comes from distant rivers and lakes, and most kids think it comes from a tap, disconnecting us emotionally from our water sources. Why are we not demanding clean water from our authorities and public representatives? We so easily allow them to drive our energy towards which one of them is more corrupt than the other.

Recently, someone sent me a sample of a vegetable and fruit wash that can take care of all the potential chemicals sprayed on them. It needed a few steps and about 30-40 mins of time. In times when time is the most valuable commodity, it seems like too much time and effort is required to undo something that we really do not need in the first place.

We are busy selling insurance policies for every possible thing. What is insurance but a guarantee against a possible failure—be it failure of health or failure of security of our assets or failure of our vehicles on roads. For the insurance industry to bloom, the failures must be more visible and talked about. Fear of failures must make us feel as vulnerable as possible. Only when we feel vulnerable, an insurance agent can get his fat commission on the insurance sales.

If you analyse the profits of listed insurance companies, you would see the cost of this fear of failure we are collectively paying. The gross profits of these companies are what we pay for a perceived safety against failures. In fact, we do not realise that via insurance companies, we are really funding each other's tough times and additionally paying for the company employees and shareholders.

Can we in small groups provide this safety net to each other? Well, that is how things worked till the insurance industry took birth. Joint families and strong communities were our insurance against potential unseen failures. These units also focussed on proactive prevention. They kept failure levels at a bare minimum as it incentivised the whole unit overall, both in terms of wealth and effort saved as well as general well-being of the community. Insurance companies thrive on your failure perception and would not like you to be proactively preventive.

Technology is a tool that may help find solutions, but we need to go back to basics and remove the reasons that cause problems in the first place. We must attack the root cause instead of moving problems from our plate to someone else's

In a balanced society, hospitals would be needed, but they would not be selling the very junk food every doctor tells you not to eat. They would not give revenue targets to doctors but would work on a trust culture where patients can blindly trust the doctors and hospitals. In an ideal society, hospitals and doctors would be incentivised for helping people stay healthy. The same goes for security agencies, they need to be evaluated on being crime-free or on the sense of safety amongst its citizens. Insurance may exist for large projects that may have unknown variables, but not for every aspect of our existence.

India's traditional knowledge says that we are made of panchabhutas—the five elements earth, water, fire, air and ether. Food that nurtures us comes from these five directly, and we have polluted all of them. Can we direct our efforts towards cleaning them in and around us rather than building solutions that just move the problem from my plate to someone else's just like we leave our garbage outside our boundary walls as someone else's problem?

Sustainability talk is everywhere, but I am yet to attend an event where plastic bottles and disposable cutlery is not used. I cannot recall the last time I was served water in a metal or glass tumbler in a public event. The effort to balance the flimsy cup takes away the joy of a hot beverage. The solution must be in intent first and action next. It should merely not be a fodder for the next big business idea.

Technology is a tool that may help finding solutions, but we need to go back to basics and remove the reasons that cause problems in the first place. Instead, we build solutions that just move the problem from one place to another. Time to think about simple holistic solutions by addressing the source of problems.

Fair action must follow in the tragic case of ADM Naveen Babu. Public humiliation should never replace due process. Divya's allegations deserved proper inquiry, not reckless public accusations.

Canada says other Indian diplomats 'clearly on notice'

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE diplomatic row between India and Canada continues as the Canadian foreign minister Melaine Joly said that the remaining Indian diplomats in Canada are "clearly on notice", a statement that came after Ottawa expelled six Indian envoys earlier this week.

India-Canada bilateral relations hit rock bottom after Canada named Indian diplomats as "persons of interest" in the probe into the murder of Khalistani extremist Hardeep Singh Nijjar.

"The Indian diplomats clearly on notice. Six of them have been expelled, including the High Commissioner in Ottawa. Others were mainly from Toronto and Vancouver and clearly, we won't tolerate any diplomats who are in contravention of the Vienna convention," Joly said on Friday.

The statement comes a week after India said that it withdrew its High Commissioner and some other diplomats from Canada in the wake of security threats and also expelled six Canadian diplomats from India — they have been asked to leave India by Saturday.

However, Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau said he had expelled the Indian High Commissioner and other diplomats as "they were interfering and were in connivance with others to seek information on certain individuals in Canada". India has trashed Trudeau's allegations as "preposterous".

Joly said Canada would not tolerate any diplomats who contravene the Vienna Convention or put the lives of Canadians at risk. She alleged that Royal Canadian Mounted Police had linked Indian diplomats to "homicides, death threats and intimidation" in Canada.

"We've never seen it in our history. That level of transnational repression can't happen on Canadian soil," Joly said.

Deposing before the Foreign Interference Commission's inquiry, Trudeau claimed Indian officials had been gathering information about Canadians and passing it to the Lawrence Bishnoi gang. Reacting to the remark, the MEA said India had requested the extradition of several members of the gang from Canada but it didn't act.

Punitive law against hoax bomb threats likely soon

Initial proposals include five-year imprisonment, inclusion in no-fly list

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

EVEN as Intelligence and cyber security agencies are grappling with hoax bomb threats to airlines, the Union government is considering framing a punitive law to deal with such activities undertaken either from Indian soil or overseas, officials said on Saturday.

In the last 24 hours, 11 flights received bomb threats, taking the number of hoax calls to airlines to around 50 this week. As the agencies scramble to ascertain the origin of the bomb threats and people or organisations behind them, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has sought a proposal from the Bureau of Civil Aviation Security (BCAS) with regard to the provisions in the proposed law, officials said.

Noting that the BCAS has proposed a five-year imprisonment for those who would be charged in hoax bomb threat cases, a source in the government said, "The MHA has initiated a consultation process with the Ministry of Law and Justice and Civil Aviation to bring in amendments to the Aircraft Act, 1934 and Aircraft Rules, 1937."

The Intelligence and cyber security agencies have found that 90 per cent of such recent calls originated from overseas. Since the senders of such threats used virtual private networks (VPN) to conceal their identities, possibility of "economic terrorism" by people or organisations inimical to India is also being looked into, as these threats have huge financial implications on the airline operators, officials said.

Hoax bomb threats that originated from the Indian soil are being firmly dealt with, as the government has suspended and deactivated over a dozen social media handles that issued such threats and even arrested a few, sources said. The social media handles were "analysed" by a joint team of cyber security experts, BCAS and Intelligence agencies, they added.

Meanwhile, within the existing legal framework, the civil aviation ministry and authorities are putting in place stricter norms to deal with such threats.

One of the first measures in the works is inclusion of those behind hoax bomb threats in the no-fly list. Currently, the no-fly list is maintained only for unruly passengers.

Pannun runs Sikhs for Justice (SJF) outfit and is based in the US and possesses American and Canadian citizenship.

The worst part about them is that they are the agent provocateur in bringing the India-Canadian relations to a nadir. So much so that in September last year Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau first publicly alleged India's role in Nijjar's killing, which New Delhi vehemently rejected. Trudeau runs a minority government with issue-based support from pro-Khalistani New Democratic Party. Trudeau virtually indicted the Indian government in Canadian Parliament for Nijjar's murder on September 18, 2023.

In June this year, Canada's House of Commons observed a 'moment of silence' for him. To date, the Canadian government has not produced a shred of evidence to substantiate its allegations despite India's repeated demands for proof.

What was Nijjar doing back home before he converted into a Canadian citizen and what did he have in common with Pannun before meeting his end? Read on:

Nijjar was an Indian-origin Khalistani separatist who was declared a "wanted terrorist" by the Indian government due to his involvement in various acts of violence and subversive activities. The National Investigation Agency (NIA) declared him "wanted" in at least four cases, including a conspiracy to kill a Hindu priest in Punjab's Phillaur in 2021. He figures in the list of individual terrorists in Schedule 4 of the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act (UAPA). The NIA had also declared Rs 10 lakh cash reward on him in July last year.

Originally from Bhar Singhpura village in Phillaur area of Jalandhar district, Nijjar was off to Canada—it is not clear whether he possessed valid papers—in 1997. He started working as a plumber, thousands of miles away from his house and land in the village. Last year the NIA issued a notice seizing his property. His uncle, Himmat Singh, lives in the village though. Nijjar's family had migrated with him but his parents had been frequent visitors to the village till 2022.

The judicial proceedings started against four men arrested by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for Nijjar's murder have not made any substantive progress. The case has been adjourned five times since May this year. The next hearing is due on November 21.

Over to Pannun. After Nijjar rose to the top ranks of Khalistani terrorists, Pannun appointed him his separatist outfit SFJ's representative in Canada tasking him to promote the 'Referendum-2020 campaign'—a separatist agenda.

NEWSMAKER

Pannun is believed to be the brainchild of Pakistan's intelligence agency ISI. He originally belongs to Khankot village on the outskirts of Amritsar and did his law degree from Punjab University. He founded SFJ in 2007 and has vowed to "avenge the death" of Nijjar.

On July 10, 2019, the Ministry of Home Affairs banned SFJ under the UAPA. Pannun has been under the NIA scanner since 2019, when the anti-terror agency registered its first case against him. In September 2023, the NIA confiscated his house and land in Amritsar and Chandigarh following non-bailable arrest warrants against Pannun by the NIA Special Court on February 3, 2021. He was declared a 'Proclaimed Offender' on November 29, 2022.

Pannun first made the headlines in August 2018 when the SFJ organised a large rally of pro-Khalistanis at Trafalgar Square in London. Pannun has neither any influence in Punjab nor among Khalistani hardliners outside the state.

Pannun is known to put out incendiary speeches and threats against Indian leaders and institutions. The SFJ has filed cases against former PM Manmohan Singh, Congress leader Sonia Gandhi, SAD chief Sukhbir Singh Badal, besides others.

Role of Supreme Court as people's court must be preserved, says CJI

SUCHITRA K MOHANTY @ New Delhi

CHIEF Justice of India DY Chandrachud on Saturday said the Supreme Court's role as a people's court must be preserved for the future, but this does not mean it has to fulfill the Opposition's role in Parliament.

Addressing the first Supreme Court Advocates On Record Association conference in South Goa, Chandrachud, who would demit office on November 10, said derogatory language, particularly against women, has no place in courts, and insensitive words can perpetuate stereotypes and disproportionately affect women and marginalised communities.

"All forms of derogatory language, particularly towards women, must have no place in our courts," he said, adding that the language used in courtrooms should reflect inclusivity, respect and empowerment.

Highlighting that SC is a people's institution, the CJI said it therefore requires extensive assistance to meaningfully and efficiently discharge its duties to people under the Constitution. The primary function of an AoR (Advocate on Record) is to ensure that their work allows the court to dispense justice. "As custodians of your case, it falls on you to ensure that the case is drafted properly, explained well and filed without defects," he said.

All forms of derogatory language, particularly towards women, must have no place in our courts

DY Chandrachud, Chief Justice of India

The CJI said that it was also the AORs' responsibility to bridge the gap between the client and the court by keeping each of them apprised about the other's doings. In cases where they do not argue themselves, the AORs bridge the gap between the court and the arguing lawyer.

He said the SC has tried to clean up old ways by using technology and making various processes easy — this includes everyday tasks like getting court passes, e-filing, and marking online appearances.

NIA challenges Kerala HC bail to PFI members

SUCHITRA K MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) has moved the Supreme Court to contest a Kerala High Court order that granted bail to 17 Popular Front of India members, all of whom are accused in the 2022 murder of RSS leader Srinivasan.

Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhatti, appearing for the NIA, told a two-judge bench of Justices Abhay S Oka and Augustine George Masih that the central probe agency has filed 17 separate appeals in the matter.

Bhatti said the NIA has moved the court challenging the Kerala High Court's June 25, 2024 order granting bail to 17 of the 26 accused. "We have filed 17 separate Special Leave Petitions. This court may take up all of them together," Bhatti requested the bench.

In the same case, one of the accused, Saddam Hussain MK, whose bail plea was rejected by the Kerala HC, has moved the apex court by filing an appeal.

IIM-Lucknow's 'Mind lab' to study students' stress

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THIS happiness centre at IIM-Lucknow has not only rolled out courses on wellness and mindfulness but will soon set up a Mind Lab to measure and understand the stress and anxiety levels among students and help them lead a better academic life and a more balanced lifestyle.

The Mind Lab, an innovative research lab at the forefront of cognitive and emotional health technology, would help measure the stress and anxiety levels of students, their focus, and other mental states.

It will examine how the student's performance can be enhanced and their well-being promoted, officials said.

Set up on December 9, 2022, the Rekhi Centre of Excellence for the Science of Happiness at the Indian Institute of Management (IIM)-Lucknow seeks to identify the root causes of stress and anxiety while exploring the positive emotions that lead to happiness.

Through evidence-based research, the centre plans to work on strategies that reduce stress and improve mental health.

In this direction, they have introduced courses on mindfulness and well-being, keeping in mind the rising stress and depression levels of students.

Measure of mental health

The IIM Lucknow's Mind Lab, an innovative research lab at the forefront of cognitive and emotional health technology, would help measure the stress and anxiety levels of students, their focus, and other mental states. The lab will examine how the student's performance can be enhanced and their well-being promoted, officials said.

These courses use a variety of activities, simulations, and case studies to promote self-awareness, resilience, and long-term well-being, preparing students to excel in both their employment and personal lives. For example, mindfulness-based learning practices encourage students to engage deeply in academics.

"Experiencing happiness in a life with a purpose and meaning should be basic to all. We want our students to adopt happiness and well-being as a life goal, and the Rekhi Centre of Excellence for the Science of Happiness has a pivotal role in fostering their well-being through its programmes, interventions, and research," said Prof Pushpendra Priyadarshi, convenor, Rekhi Centre of Excellence for the Science of Happiness, IIM Lucknow.

Officials said in January 2025, IIM-Lucknow will host the annual international research conference focusing on happiness and mindfulness to promote knowledge sharing among happiness and well-being experts. The research papers presented will be compiled and published as research articles in a suitable journal or book.

The officials added that discussions with international and national agencies are under consideration for action-based projects.

They said that during the first and second years, students attend core curriculum courses and electives that help them develop mindfulness and well-being. Students are sensitised to emotional intelligence, stress and well-being, meaningfulness, and purpose in the first year.

Specialised courses on fostering happiness, mindfulness, and positive psychology are offered for postgraduate and doctoral students in the second year of the curriculum.

These courses use a variety of activities, simulations, and case studies to promote self-awareness, resilience, and long-term well-being, preparing students to excel in both their jobs and personal lives.

Mindfulness-based learning practices encourage students to engage deeply in academics.

Ongoing research projects are designed to find out the impact of positive psychology and mindfulness-based interventions on various outcomes such as student psychological well-being, life satisfaction, positive emotions, academic performance, and stress reduction.

■ JMM, Cong will contest 70 seats together while RJD and Left 11 ■ Names of 66 candidates announced for 2-phase Jharkhand elections

RJD's '2-minute noodle' swipe at INDIA seat deal

JMM and Congress will contest on 70 seats while the remaining will be given to the other alliance partners of INDIA bloc

Hemant Soren, CM

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

AS preparations for the Assembly polls intensify in the state, the Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) and Congress have announced their decision to contest 70 seats together. Meanwhile, the RJD and the left parties have been allocated 11 seats.

However, Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD) has expressed dissatisfaction with the announcement. Rajya Sabha MP Manoj Jha criticised the decision saying that not all choices can be made as quickly as "2 minutes' noodles".

The announcement was made on Saturday by Chief Minister Hemant Soren, Jharkhand Congress incharge Ghulam Ahmad Mir, and senior Cabinet Minister in Hemant Soren's cabinet Rameshwar Oraon.

"JMM and Congress will contest on 70 seats while the remaining will be given to the other alliance partners of INDIA bloc," Soren stated.

The RJD, however, registered its displeasure over the seat sharing formula. Manoj Jha, while talking to the media in Ranchi, said, "Congress and JMM unilaterally announced an alliance on 70 seats offering us only a few. In 2019, our candidates finished second on five seats, which was far better than the performance of other alliance partners in terms of percentage," said Jha.

"Since yesterday, our LoP Tejashwi Yadav is here (Ranchi). Despite everyone being here, if you did not involve us in the process of forming the alliance, then it is sad... It is also painful because our strength is probably very high... We have identified 15 to 18 such seats where we are capable of defeating the BJP even alone," said Jha. They are trying to register their displeasure, he added.

"All options remain open, as it is appropriate for any political party to move forward while ignoring the sentiments of its leaders and workers. Not all decision can be made instantly, like "2 minutes' noodles," said Jha. Soon after the RJD raised objections to announcement, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi and JMM chief Hemant Soren met Yadav on the issue.

RJD unhappy

The RJD registered its displeasure over the seat sharing formula. Party's Rajya Sabha MP Manoj Jha, while talking to the media in Ranchi, said, "Congress and JMM unilaterally announced an alliance on 70 seats offering us only a few. In 2019, our candidates finished second on five seats, which was far better than the performance of other alliance partners in terms of percent," said Jha

Cataract patients open eyes to be Gujarat BJP members, party retorts

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

A new controversy has surfaced in Gujarat over the BJP membership drive. A viral video shows patients at Rajkot's Ranchoddas Bapu Charitable Trust eye hospital being woken up in the middle of the night and enrolled as BJP members after cataract surgeries.

Reports said patients registered at Junagadh's Trimurti Hospital were brought to Rajkot for cataract surgeries on September 16. At night, a person allegedly woke them up, collected OTPs, and enrolled them as BJP members.

Kamlesh Thummar, a patient from Junagadh, captured the incident on video and shared it with the media. Many patients only realized they had been made BJP members when they received confirmation messages. "I went to Rajkot for cataract surgery last Sund ay and fell asleep around 8 pm," alleged Kamlesh Thummar, who traveled from Junagadh for eye surgery.

"Around 10:30 pm, someone woke me up, asked for my mobile number, I think it was for the hospital. Before I knew it, he took my phone, mentioned an OTP, and when I got my phone back, I was a BJP member," said Thummar

"When I asked him if he made me a BJP member. He replied, 'There's no other way.' This shouldn't happen. Out of 400 people, around 200-250 became members — those with mobiles. This is a scam; people were forced into membership," Thummar claimed.

Shanti Wadoliya of Ranchoddas Charitable Trust stated, "On October 16, we held a camp in Junagadh, organized by Dr. Chikhalia at Trimurti Hospital. The patients were later brought to Rajkot for their procedures." Wadoliya said an investigation is underway. If any trust member is found involved, strict action will be taken according to rules," Wadoliya said.

No CM face, MahaYuti decides to fight polls under PM's name

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

THE ruling MahaYuti in Maharashtra will not project incumbent CM Eknath Shinde or anyone else as chief minister for the assembly polls due next month. This was decided when Shinde, deputy CMs Ajit Pawar and Devendra Fadnavis met Union Home Minister Amit Shah and other senior BJP leaders on Friday late night in Delhi. Sources said Prime Minister Modi's face will be the key projection of the election for MahaYuti. The leader to helm the alliance will be decided later. The BJP is learnt to have refused to give any commitment over the CM's face pre or post elections," said a source.

"The MahaYuti will contest elections under the collective leadership of all three parties and their leaderships. But no prominent leader, or any particular face, neither from BJP, nor from Shiv or NCP, will be projected as CM face," said a source.

In the Friday meeting, it was decided that of the total 288 Assembly seats BJP will contest between 155-160 seats while the Shinde-led Shiv Sena will contest 80-85 and Ajit Pawar-led NCP 50-55 seats.

In the Delhi meeting, incumbent CM Eknath Shinde insisted on projecting himself as the CM face, but BJP leaders and Ajit Pawar were reluctant.

The BJP currently has 105 MLAs, Shinde-led Shiv sena 56 and Ajit Pawar has also got support of 54 MLA. As per the current strength of Mahayuti, there is no dispute over 210 seats while the remaining seats will be distributed among the alliance partners.

"The seat distribution was discussed in the Delhi meeting. There are only a few undecided seats, but the respective party leaders have agreed to make adjustments, including swapping of seats. The criteria for assigning the remaining seats will be winnability, strong candidate presence of the respective party, besides social dynamics," said a senior Shiv Sena leader.

Meanwhile, sources said that Eknath Shinde was keen to project himself as a chief minister, but the BJP refused as it has done in Bihar with Nitish Kumar.

Mamata dials medics to break RG Kar deadlock

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @Kolkata

A day after junior doctors threatened to go for complete cease-work in all government and private hospitals in West Bengal, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Saturday appealed to the protesting medics over the phone to withdraw their fast unto-death.

Hours after making the appeal, Banerjee also invited the junior doctors to meet with her at Nabanna on Monday, saying both can hold discussing to resolve the impasse over the RG Kar hospital rape-murder.

In a letter addressed to the junior doctors, Chief Secretary Manoj Pant invited them for talks on Monday at 5 pm. Pant said that most of the doctors' demands had already been addressed. "The Hon'ble chief minister hopes that this message will be received with the understanding that the junior doctors will immediately end the hunger strike in the interest of public health and well-being.

All the points raised by you have been discussed and responded to," he said. Manoj Pant visited the protest site to meet the protesters in afternoon and the Chief Minister spoke to the junior doctors through his mobile phone in the presence of Home Secretary Nandini Chakraborty. Speaking to the doctors, Banerjee said, "Everybody has the right to protest, but it shouldn't affect healthcare services. I would request you all to withdraw your fast."

You know why I did not remove the health secretary. It is not possible to remove everyone in a department at once. We had earlier removed the DHS and DME. Please rise above politics and rejoin work

— Mamata Banerjee, CM

The junior doctors are demanding the removal of state Health secretary Narayan Swaroop Nigam, in addition to other reforms. In response, Banerjee acknowledged their frustration but said, "You know why I did not remove the health secretary. It is not possible to remove everyone in a department at once. We had earlier removed the DHS and DME. Please rise above politics and rejoin work."

Banerjee said the demand for conducting students' body elections in all state-run medical colleges has been considered, saying the process can be completed in four months.

She said that government's assurances on most of the demands cannot be written in pen and paper as they involve administrative work and government approvals. She said the doctors need to to rely on the version of state government representatives. Banerjee also assured that display boards for patient vacancies in each government hospital will be installed as the Centre has given funds for upgrading hospital infrastructure.

The Chief Minister said the common people feel helpless if they do not get medical services at the state-run hospitals. "I am in favour of humanity. I also want justice. But at the same time the treatment of the common people will have to be ensured. So I am again requesting you to withdraw the hunger-strike and get back to work," she said.

The junior doctors have been on a fast-unto-death for the past 15 days, demanding justice for their deceased colleague and calling for systemic changes in the state's healthcare infrastructure.

On Punjab paddy crisis, Mann says ready to deal with farmers' agitation

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

AMID farmers' protests over tardy procurement of paddy in the kharif marketing season, Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Saturday warned all stakeholders – farmers, commission agents (arthias) and rice millers – saying his government is ready with plan B and will not allow "blackmailing".

If need arises, his government will not hesitate in getting the rice milling done from outside the state, Mann said. His statement came as the state rice millers refused to mill the paddy until their demands are met. Meanwhile, the protesting farmers gave an ultimatum to the CM, saying they will announce a "big decision" if the state government fails to ensure smooth paddy procurement within four days.

The AAP government has been under fire from farmers as well as the opposition parties whom allege that paddy procurement and lifting process is tardy. Out of total procurement of 16.37 lakh metric tonne of paddy in the state, only 2.62 lakh metric tonne of paddy has been lifted, leading to the glut situation.

Mann held a meeting with a delegation of Samyukta Kisan Morcha (SKM), which is protesting against the alleged slow procurement of the crop. "Blackmailing of any of the stakeholders will not be allowed and, if needed, the state government will not hesitate to get the milling of rice from outside the state," said Mann.

Notably, the state rice millers have complained of space crunch for storing the fresh paddy crop and want the Centre to liquidate the existing wheat and paddy stock to create sufficient space.

Rice millers have also expressed concern over the out-turn ratio (post milling yield) of the PR-126 paddy variety, claiming that it will lead to huge losses to them. They have said the out-turn ratio of this variety is less than 67 per cent, a ratio which has been fixed by the Centre.

The CM said the state is firmly committed to the smooth and hassle-free procurement.

Farmers give ultimatum

The protesting farmers gave an ultimatum to the CM, saying they will announce a "big decision" if the state government fails to ensure smooth paddy procurement within four days. Drone targets Netanyahu's house

Prime Minister and his wife safe as they were not at home in Mediterranean coastal town of Caesarea, says PMO

JERUSALEM

THE Israel government on Saturday said a drone targeted Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's house but there was no casualty. Fighting with Lebanon-based Hezbollah and Gaza-based Hamas showed no pause after the killing of the mastermind of last year's deadly October 7 attack.

Israel's military said dozens of projectiles were launched from Lebanon, as sirens wailed, a day after Hezbollah announced a new phase in fighting. Netanyahu's office said the drone targeted his house in the Mediterranean coastal town of Caesarea, though neither he nor his wife were there.

Hezbollah did not claim responsibility for the drone attack but said it carried out several rocket attacks on northern and central Israel. The barrage came as Israel is expected to respond to an attack earlier this month by Iran, which backs both Hezbollah and Hamas.

Israel in turn carried out at least three airstrikes on Beirut's southern suburbs known as Dahiyeh, a heavily populated area home to Hezbollah's offices. Israel's military said it was looking into the reported strikes.

In Gaza, Israeli forces fired at hospitals in the battered north of the Palestinian enclave, and strikes killed more than 50 people, including children, in less than 24 hours, according to hospital officials and an Associated Press reporter there.

"The possibility of war in the region remains a serious concern," Iranian Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi said while visiting Turkey.

Israel's war with Lebanon's Hezbollah has intensified. Hezbollah said Friday it planned to send more guided missiles and exploding drones into Israel. The militant group's longtime leader, Hassan Nasrallah, was killed in an Israeli airstrike in September, and Israel sent ground troops into Lebanon early this month.

Israel's military on Saturday said some 180 projectiles were fired from Lebanon. A 50-year-old man was killed after hit by shrapnel in northern Israel, and four people were injured, Israel's medical services said.

In the northern city of Kiryat Ata, one rocket landed. Itzik Billet, commander for the Haifa area, said nine people were lightly injured. The Israeli fire service said it was battling several blazes from missiles in the Shlomi area next to the Lebanese border. Lebanon's state-run National News Agency said an Israeli airstrike on an apartment in Baaloul village in the east killed five people, including the mayor of a nearby village, Sohmor. An Israeli military official confirmed that the IDF struck targets in the Bekaa valley. Lebanon's health ministry said an Israeli airstrike hit a vehicle on a highway north of Beirut, killing two people. Israel has issued near-daily warnings for people to leave buildings and villages in parts of Lebanon. The fighting has displaced more than 1 million people, including some 4,00,000 children.

Israel also said Saturday it killed Hezbollah's deputy commander in the southern town of Bint Jbeil. The army said Nasser Rashid supervised attacks against Israel. Israel's military on Saturday dropped leaflets in southern Gaza showing Sinwar dead in a chair, blood running down his forehead. "Sinwar destroyed your lives," said the leaflet seen by The Associated Press. "Whoever lays down his weapons and returns the kidnapped people to us, we will allow him to leave and live in peace." AP

NEW INSTRUMENT

BRICS exploring use of digital currency for trade, Putin says

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin has said the time has not come yet for a common BRICS currency but added that the 10-nation bloc is exploring the use of digital currencies in mutual trade and investments for which his country is working with India and other nations.

Advocating a cautious approach in creating a new reserve currency due to differences in the structure and quality of the economies of the BRICS member states, Putin said these countries should focus on the use of the national currencies, new financial instruments and the creation of an analogue of SWIFT.

"At this point of time it (a BRICS currency) is a long term prospect. It is not under consideration. BRICS will be cautious and act gradually, move slowly. The time has not come yet," Putin told a select group of senior editors from the BRICS member states at a media interaction on Friday at his official residence in Novo-Ogaryovo, about 50 km from Moscow.

The Russian strongman's remarks came in reply to a question about plans by the BRICS – a grouping conceived as a geopolitical and geoeconomic counterweight to the West – to create a reserve currency.

Russia is hosting the 16th annual BRICS summit in the Tatarstan city of Kazan next week. Prime Minister Narendra Modi is scheduled to attend the summit from Oct 22 to 23.

It will also be the first ever summit of the grouping after its expansion with the entry of Egypt, Ethiopia, Iran, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates. Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa are the original members of the BRICS.

Replying to a question, Putin said the BRICS was now studying the possibility of expanding the use of the national currencies and creation of instruments that would make such work safe. In particular, the BRICS states were considering the possibility of using electronic instruments, he added. "We are looking into the possibility of expanding the use of national currencies and settlements, and want to establish the tools that would make this safe and secure enough."

Putin said the grouping will have to come up with a toolkit that will be under the supervision of the respective BRICS institutions. "It may be another very good step in the development of the global south with our direct active engagement. We will be talking about that during the (Kazan) summit. We are already in consultations with the Chinese and the Indian friends with the Brazilians. Also, we have had a round of consultations with South Africa."

On a potential BRICS reserve currency, Putin said the member states needed to work gradually without haste. PTI

US judges fear violence as Election Day nears

WASHINGTON

OVER the past four years, judges at Washington's federal courthouse have punished hundreds of rioters who stormed the US Capitol in an unprecedented assault on the nation's democracy. On the cusp of the next presidential election, some of those judges fear another burst of political violence could be coming.

Before recently sentencing a rioter to prison, US District Judge Reggie Walton said he prays Americans accept the outcome of next month's election. But the veteran judge expressed concern that Donald Trump and his allies are spreading the same sort of conspiracy theories that fueled the mob's Jan 6, 2021, riot.

"That sore loser is saying the same things he said before," Walton said earlier this month without mentioning the Republican presidential nominee by name. "He's riling up the troops again, so if he doesn't get what he wants, it's not inconceivable that we will experience that same situation again. And who knows? It could be worse."

Walton, a nominee of President George W Bush, is not alone. Other judges have said the political climate is ripe for another attack like the one injured more than 100 police officers at the Capitol. As Election Day nears, judges are frequently stressing the need to send a message beyond their courtrooms that political violence can't be tolerated.

"It scares me to think about what will happen if anyone on either side is not happy with the results of the election," Judge Jia Cobb said. AP

Tories did not sign India FTA over more visa demand

London: Britain's former business and trade secretary Kemi Badenoch, who is the frontrunner to succeed Rishi Sunak as Conservative Party chief and Opposition Leader, has claimed that she blocked the India-UK free trade agreement (FTA) over demands for more visas, according to media reports. The shadow minister, who is going head-to-head in an ongoing Tory membership vote with former Cabinet colleague Robert Jenrick, has indicated that one of the reasons the FTA could not be signed off by the Sunak government was due to the Indian side expecting more concessions over the issue of migration. "As business secretary, even as I was trying to do things to limit immigration, we had an India FTA where they kept trying to bring in migration and I said no. It's one of the reasons why we didn't sign it," Badenoch said. PTI

Xi inspects Rocket Force that faced corruption purge right at the top

BEIJING

CHINESE President Xi Jinping has inspected a brigade of the military's strategic missile force that underwent a massive purge of officials for corruption in recent years, according to a media report on Saturday.

Xi on Thursday visited at Hefei the Chinese People's Liberation Army's (PLA) Rocket Force, a key arm of the military operating the missiles, including nuclear weapons, state-run Xinhua news agency reported. He urged the strategic missile troops to strengthen their deterrence and combat capabilities and resolutely fulfil the tasks entrusted by the Communist Party of China (CPC) and the people, the report said.

The Rocket Force, established in 2015 as part of Xi's military overhaul, has been at the centre of the latest anti-corruption campaign targeting the military. Besides heading the ruling CPC and the Presidency, 71-year-old Xi also heads the Central Military Commission (CMC), the overall high command of the Chinese military. He visited the training field of the brigade which boasts a history of over 50 years, and learned about the tactical and technical performance of the newly-introduced weaponry and equipment, and examined its training in operating the arms.

In a bid to shore up the morale of the officers and soldiers, he asked them to have good command and make the best use of the weapons in their hands while living up to the trust of the party and the people, the report said. Later, Xi was briefed on the brigade's work and made a speech stressing the importance of upholding the party's absolute leadership over the armed forces and strengthening party-building at the primary level. His visit to the Rocket Force, which operates the country's most powerful long and short-range missiles, was considered significant due to the massive purges seen at the key military arm driven by alleged graft at its top echelons in recent years. The unspecified allegations against many of its officials included the use of substandard fuel for the missiles.

A host of its officers, including the former Defence Minister Gen Li Shangfu, were summarily sacked for alleged corruption. Gen Li headed the Rocket Force before he was elevated to the post of Defence Minister by Xi, who later sacked him. His successor, Gen Li Yuchao, who assumed the role of its commander in 2022, was also removed following graft charges. In July this year, the ruling Communist Party announced the anti-corruption investigation against Gen Sun Jinming, who headed the Rocket Force. PTI

There have been instances when angry consumers burnt down showroom

OLA ELECTRIC UNDER FIRE FROM CUSTOMERS AND INVESTORS

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

CUSTOMERS' grievance is a regular affair outside Ola Electric's service centre in Delhi's Moti Nagar. A good number of customers who decided to get their hands on the company's electric vehicle anticipating that it will bring down running cost are struggling to get their product repaired or serviced. "I should have bought an Activa," said Ankit, 30, an angry customer who travelled over 10 km to get his e-scooter fixed.

Another customer who runs a small business said since the time he purchased the Ola's e-scooter, the machine has had one issue after another. "The company should have addressed all the issues before hitting the market... It is no surprise that some consumers are burning their scooters due to frustration," he said while showing piles of scooters stacked up for servicing.

Be it Google review or social media platform X, the internet is full of similar consumer experiences. There have been instances when consumers took extreme steps such as burning down an entire showroom out of sheer anger. The situation has reached to such an alarming level that now the government has stepped in to protect consumers' rights. Besides customers, investors are facing impact arising from bad press. Ola shares have crashed about 45% from its peak, leaving investors in a tight spot who entered at higher levels.

A brake to a head start

Ola Electric had burst onto the EV world with a bold promise — to offer affordable and efficient e-scooters that could replace the traditional internal combustion engine (ICE) powered vehicles. Ola Electric-founder and CEO Bhavish Aggarwal, had called it ending the ICE age. In no time, it became popular, with a massive influx of pre-bookings and the market leader in the e-2wheeler space.

However, as deliveries began and new products were launched, complaints started piling up. While initially consumers loved the design and performance of its scooters, after-sales experience became a sore point. It brought attention to its lack of preparedness to compete with legacy players in managing post-purchase customer support. As per reports, it started receiving about 80,000 complaints a month. Taking a note, the Central Consumer Protection Authority (CCPA) on October 7 issued a show cause notice to Ola for alleged violation of consumer rights, misleading advertisement and unfair trade practices.

Following this, the Ministry of Heavy Industries (MHI) jumped in. It requested the Automotive Research Association of India (ARAI) to confirm whether Ola Electric was fulfilling warranty obligations and maintaining the required service centres. ARAI asked the automaker to explain why it didn't inform the authority about a price cut for its S1X 2kWh model before launching the 'BOSS' sale.

Experts say if ARAI finds violations of guidelines, Ola could face action, including the risk of losing subsidies under the PM Electric DRIVE Revolution in Innovative Vehicle Enhancement (PM E-DRIVE) scheme. So far, Ola has recognised receiving notice from CCPA and said will respond in the given 15-day timeframe. The company explained that a limited festive promotional campaign had offered customers a discount of ₹5,000 on scooter and only a select group of buyers could avail a larger discount of ₹25,000. It said the official price of Ola S1 X 2KWh scooter remains unchanged.

Slipping market share

Amid rising number of complaints, it is now facing stiff competition from legacy players. The Bengaluru-based company clocked its lowest monthly sales in September and its market share fell to 27% from 47% in September 2023. It sold 23,965 vehicles in September 2024.

Rival firms are seeing a big rise in market share. Bajaj Auto sold 18,933 EVs last month as against 16,650 units in August. Bajaj's EV sales grew 166% YoY and it for the first time overtook TVS Motor in monthly EV sales. TVS Motor's e-scooter registrations came to 17,865 units in September. Ather Energy saw a rise of 15% month-on-month in its EV sales to 12,579 units in September from 10,919 units in August.

A declining market share and rising government scrutiny have started to weigh in on the company's share prices. The stock fell marginally to settle at ₹87.30 on Friday. It has slumped 45% from its record high value of ₹157.53, a level seen on August 20, 2024. The stock is now crawling back to its listing price of ₹76.

"Currently, Ola Electric is coming to its listing price after touching a high of ₹157. There has been outrage in social media for the last few weeks and the stock saw profit booking. Investors with a high-risk appetite and long-term view can buy this stock at current price range," said Kranthi Bathini, director of equity strategy at WealthMills Securities.

While Ola Electric could not reply to queries sent by TNIE by the time the story was published, it reportedly acknowledged the issues and promised to improve its after-sales service. It has announced plans to expand its service network from 400 centres to 1,000 by the end of the year. Ola Electric has reportedly brought in consultancy firm EY India to help tackle rising after-sales issues.

SPECTRUM ALLOCATION: MUSK'S WIN OVER AMBANI DEBUNKS 2G 'SCAM' CASE

GURBIR SINGH

IT is significant that the Union government has backed Elon Musk's internet arm Starlink and Amazon over Mukesh Ambani Reliance and Sunil Mittal's Airtel by deciding to allot satellite spectrum administratively rather than take the auction route.

The decision is a tacit admission the '2G scam' over a decade ago was a red herring; and the 'presumptive loss' of ₹1.76 lakh crore alleged by CAG for not auctioning spectrum was at best creative imagination.

For the current broadband satellite spectrum, Musk had lobbied hard against the Ambani bid to keep to auctions. In a post on X late on October 14, Musk said any decision to auction "would be unprecedented". Citing the international practice endorsed by International Telecommunication Union (ITU), Musk added: "This spectrum was long designated by the ITU as shared spectrum for satellites." Hours later, the government plumed for Musk's position. Union communications minister Jyotiraditya Scindia on October 15 said spectrum "will be allocated administratively in line with Indian laws". The pricing would be worked out by the telecom watchdog, he added.

COMPETITION HELPS

The turf war between our local billionaires, Mukesh Ambani and Sunil Bharti Mittal, on one side, and Elon Musk's Starlink has been on for some time. Starlink has said allotting licences is in line with a global trend, and is justified since spectrum is a natural resource to be shared. An auction may impose geographical restrictions that will raise costs for the consumer. Reliance on the other hand, in submissions to the government, has called for auction of spectrum as foreign satellite operators had the advantage of bundling additional services like voice and data. Therefore auction was one way of achieving a level playing field. What the Ambanis are not saying publicly is that they already have the first mover advantage of 440 million telecom users, and 8 million wired broadband connections representing a 25 percent market share. By excluding foreign players like Starlink, Reliance and Airtel want to further consolidate their monopoly over digital communication.

The government has done the right thing by keeping the door open to competition. Satellite broadband services are moving fast. Management consultancy Deloitte expects the sector to be worth $1.9 billion by 2030. It's ability to reach remote areas will be a boon to integrating rural India with the internet highway. Though the final set of players are yet to be decided, hopefully there will be many including Amazon's Project Kuiper which will launch its satellites in 2025, and the British government-backed OneWeb. This will ensure competition on tariffs and make broadband prices more affordable.

WAS THERE A SCAM?

The decision of the government to go with administrative allotment of satellite spectrum is an admission that the brouhaha over a decade ago over the allotment of 2G telecom circles was misplaced. Vinod Rai, the then Comptroller and Auditor General of India (CAG), arrived at the explosive conclusion that the then UPA government, by not conducting auctions for the telecom circles in 2007 had caused a humungous loss of ₹1.76 lakh crore.

The presumptions in CAG's math was based on rates at which 3G telecom spectrum was auctioned two years later. It was then pointed out that the sale of 3G and 2G spectrum was not comparable as 3G was not for mass communication but for commercial use.

No one bothered about the details. Everyone loves a good scam. The Congress-led UPA, then telecom minister T Raja and dozens of suspect telecom operators were hung out to dry. Kapil Sibal, who took over as Union minister for Communications & IT, in 2011 was mocked for this 'zero-loss' calculations. It was good election ammunition too, and the BJP romped home in the 2014 Lok Sabha polls. There was guarded admission from the UPA government that there were irregularities, and the possibility of bribe-taking in the allotment of 2G licenses. Sibal promised a clean-up, but he steadfastly defended allotments on 'administrative' basis.

Debunking the presumptive loss of ₹1.76 lakh, Sibal said: "Government policy is formulated with a view to maximize public welfare, and not merely to maximize Government revenues. The pricing of different natural resources is often done in a manner that meets this objective. For instance, land is given free of cost to infrastructure projects such as construction of highways... "The average (mobile) tariff came down from almost Rs.17 per minute in 1999 to about Rs. 3 per minute in 2004 and, by March 2010, this became as low as 57 paise per minute while today (January 2011) it has reached a level of 30 paise per minute." The vindication of this stand is in the numbers. As of early 2024, India had 1.12 billion active cellular mobile connections, which is 78% of the country's population.

A few months ago and 10 years after the CAG report, Duvvuri Subbarao, a former Union Finance Secretary and RBI governor, said in a newspaper interview the assumptions underlying CAG's estimate of ₹1.76 lakh crore presumptive loss in the 2G telecom scam are contestable. "CAG didn't reckon with the significant spin off benefits of low spectrum pricing," he said. And now with the BJP-led government accepting satellite broadband spectrum allotment via 'administrative' pricing rather than auction, the debate has turned a full circle. Broadband internet, like telecommunications, is a public service wherein consumer welfare must prevail over seeking high revenue for the government and big corporates.

HDFC Bank net profit rises 5% to ₹16,820 crore in Q2

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN@Mumbai

HDFC Bank on Saturday reported a 5% rise net income year-on-year to ₹16,821 crore, despite overall stressed assets inching up marginally.

The numbers beat Street expectations as brokerages were expecting the largest private sector lender to post ₹16,570 crore in net income in the September quarter. The bank posted better-than-expected net interest income. Net interest income rose 10% to ₹30,114 crore as against brokerages expectations of ₹30,306 crore. The core profitability gauge, net interest margin printed in at 3.46% and 3.65% based on interest earning assets, chief financial officer Srinivasan Kothandaraman Vaidyanathan told reporters in an earnings call Saturday. Other income for the quarter came in at ₹11,480 crore compared to ₹10,710 crore year-ago period.

Gross non-performing assets stood at 1.36%, marginally higher than 1.33% in the preceding quarter, while net NPAs stood at 0.41%, up from 0.39% quarter-on-quarter. In absolute terms, gross NPAs rose to ₹34,251 crore from ₹33,026 crore, while net NPAs climbed to ₹10,309 crore from ₹9,508 crore quarter-on-quarter.

Provisions for the quarter rose to ₹2,701 crore, rising 4 percent from ₹2,602 on-quarter, Vaidyanathan said.

In the reporting quarter, gross advances rose 7% to ₹25.19 lakh crore, and the CFO refused to offer a guidance on any key numbers but said "we are focused growth at any cost but only quality growth. Asset quality is the core driver behind our growth."

Retail loans grew 11.3% and commercial and corporate book clipped at 17.4%, he said, adding that corporate and other wholesale loans were lower by 12%. In fact, wholesale book degrew 2% and Vaidyanathan attributed the same to price mismatches. Overseas advances constituted 1.7% of the total advances of the nation's second largest lender with a balance sheet of over ₹30 lakh crore.

Advances on an average basis were ₹25.64 lakh crore in the quarter as against ₹23.27 lakh crore a year ago, and ₹25.33 trillion in the previous quarter. Total deposits grew 15.1% YoY to ₹25.08 lakh crore for the first time crossing the ₹25 lakh crore mark, he said. Of the total liabilities, current and savings account fetched 8.1% more funds, with savings at ₹6.08 trillion and current account deposits at ₹2.75 lakh crore.

Kotak Bank reports muted Q2 earnings

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

THE rising stress in the personal loans, credit card and microfinance portfolios roiled the earnings for Kotak Mahindra Bank for Q2FY25.

The fourth-largest private sector lender reported a muted set of numbers with net income inching up a meager 4.8% to ₹3,344 crore in the quarter. The numbers missed the Street view as brokerages were expecting it report at least ₹3,494 crore in net profit. The management led by chief executive Ashok Vaswani and chief financial officer Devang Gheewalla sounded sanguine about the quarter ahead, saying the stress in personal loan book along with microfinance and credit cards have come as surprise. They said close 40% of the new stress is in credit card book and attributed the same to the RBI bank on onboarding new credit card customers through digital channels as a result of which the book has de-grown in the quarter.

'Economic prospects help India-US ties'

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

COMMERCE and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal has said Indo-US business relations have strengthened over the past 10 years as lack of predictability and confidence in the future of the Indian economy has become a thing of history.

Goyal, who recently returned from his US visit, said this time there was no negative agenda in the meeting. "In earlier years, we used to discuss issues about economy, inflation. We will discuss foreign exchange rates, instability of which was a sore issue among investors, sometimes Covid, sometimes geopolitical situations. This time, there was no negative agenda in any meeting. It was as if all of those have now become history," Goyal said in a media briefing. On the possible impact of India-US business ties if Donald Trump comes to power after the US presidential elections in November, Goyal said PM Modi has worked with both sides (Democrats and Republicans), and he worked with either side equally well.

RBL Bank profit falls 24% on rise in NPAs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

PRIVATE sector lender RBI Bank on Saturday reported a 24% fall in net profit at ₹222.5 crore in Q2FY25 as its asset quality worsened. On a sequential basis, the number fell steeper at 40.11% from ₹372 crore.

In a statement, the city-based lender didn't offer any reason for such a fall in bottom line. While loan sales and non-core fee income grew well, the only negative seen is a 13% rise in operational expenses. Gross non-performing asset (NPA) ratio rose to 2.88 in the reporting period from 2.69 in June 2024, but fell from 3.12 year-ago quarter. Net NPA ratio rose to 0.79 as against 0.74 in June 2024.

Positive start for new coach Sreejesh

Indian junior men's hockey team, coached by former India goalkeeper and junior team coach PR Sreejesh, began its campaign in the Sultan of Johor Cup with a 4-2 win over Japan here on Saturday. Amir Ali (12'), Gurjot Singh (36'), Anand Sourabh Kushwaha (44') and Ankit Pal (47') scored for India.

After a 106-run lead, hosts will have to come up with something extraordinary on final day

INDIA HOPING FOR A MIRACLE

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Bengaluru

TO hell and back. Well, not quite. Now that they are back where they started when the day began, it's on the bowlers to finish what the batters started.

When Saturday dawned, the hosts still needed a few miracles to finish on the right side of the Test. They got the first miracle; an emotionally-charged thrill-a-minute partnership between Sarfaraz Khan and Rishabh Pant.

When the first streaks of the Sun appear across the M Chinnaswamy Stadium on Sunday, the bowlers will have a target of 107 to defend. It's not a lot; the Kiwis, as it stands, are the favourites to take a lead in the series going into Pune next week. But it's something to hang onto.

If there's something about this team, they just don't know when they are beaten. They will keep going till their every available sinew has been stretched and all possible avenues exhausted. On Sunday morning, they will have one final chance to do something no team has ever done in the 140+ years of Tests — make a comeback from a first innings deficit of over 350+ runs to win. A lot will depend on how well they use the new ball. In the four balls New Zealand played before bad light brought an early halt to proceedings, Jasprit Bumrah almost had Tom Latham. He was getting some movement. However, the lights were switched on and the sky was gray.

If the conditions are somewhat similar, the hosts will believe. There is a forecast of more rain on Sunday but it's not going to be enough to wash out the day. Accuweather has said it will be 'mostly cloudy with a thunderstorm', with '80% probability of precipitation'. However, the forecast suggests that at least the morning session won't be delayed. And considering the world-class drainage facilities at the stadium — even after taking a lot of rainfall in under an hour, there wasn't a puddle late on Saturday — there will be enough time for a result if the forecast holds true. But that new ball, as the cliche goes, holds all the key. It was the key differentiator on an ultimately topsy-turvy kind of afternoon. Even post a lengthy rain delay, Pant and Sarfaraz continued to take the attack. They didn't relent even after gobbling up the arrears.

The Kiwis had no choice but to go on the ultra defensive. They were forced to play the waiting game till the second new ball became due. Once it was available, Tim Southee grabbed it with all the enthusiasm of a child at a candy store. Few overs later, the visitors had a lift-off. Sarfaraz, ever so keen to play the ball on the up, tried to clear cover but his mishit flew straight to cover. Another new ball induced collapse later, they were bowled out for 462, seven wickets for 54. Most of the credit for this should go to William O'Rourke, whose outstanding hat-trick of wicket maidens changed the complexion of the game. When Pant was on 99, a change in angle from round the wicket and extra bounce got Pant to chop on. Off his next over, KL Rahul nicked one off Rourke. The usually reliable Indian lower-order in these conditions didn't add many more.

Final frontier: A new champion and long-lasting legacy await

TNIE@ WOMEN'S WORLD CUP
KALYANI MANGALE
DUBAI

THIS time around last year, when the cricketing world was in the middle of the men's ODI World Cup in India, all cards were falling in place for another rivalry to lock horns in the Rugby World Cup. While New Zealand All Blacks were crushing every opposition to make it to the final, South African Springboks were sticking to their mantra of winning by one point because that was enough of a margin for them. All cards fell in place and Stade de France, the national stadium of the host country, witnessed one of the best finals ever.

At Dubai International Stadium on Sunday, the women's cricket sides of these two nations will face each other for the ultimate glory. Unlike Rugby, where many would have predicted the final matchup, nobody would have imagined South Africa and New Zealand making it to the final of this T20 World Cup in UAE, even when the venue was shifted from Bangladesh. These teams had to get through the overwhelming tournament favourites in Australia, one of the most consistent sides in England and India, who were primed to break the hegemony of the previously mentioned two teams. That did not happen. While England and India dropped out in the group stage, South Africa thrashed Australia to make it to the final.

Laura Wolvaardt (L) & Sophie Devine with the T20 World Cup Trophy | ICC

New Zealand on the other hand, had to deal with a streak of losses getting into the tournament. Just before the World Cup when they faced Australia, Sophie Devine's side could not win a single match only to add to their misery. However, it was a different ball game once the tournament started. A win against India in their opening game by 58 runs where for a change India looked like deers caught in the headline broke their losing streak, only for them to lose against Australia by a significant margin. Once Australia booked their semi-final spot, New Zealand had to face three-way competition with India and Pakistan to get out of their group and did it by beating Pakistan in Dubai.

For South Africa, it is probably another opportunity at redemption after missing the chance to lift the World Cup trophy in front of a packed Newlands Stadium in 2023 against Australia. A lot has changed in and around the South African team, and they have proved that they are the force to reckon with and their run to the final in the previous edition was not a fluke. "We didn't really come into the tournament, being nervous at the fact that we had played a final and there was a big expectation on us to get to another final. I just feel like we narrowed it down, just focused on every single game that was in front," Chloe Tryon said.

Now, the two sides will face each other in a final that will be special for more than one reason. Starting with how no matter who wins, we will have a new winner of the T20 World Cup going home this time around. "I think what's so exciting for us is it's two new teams. To be the first T20 world champions for their country, that's exciting for both of us. It's going to be a great game tomorrow and we know some of the players from franchise cricket and when they get over that white line, they hold nothing back," Suzie Bates said.

In a tournament where all predictions have turned out to be hollow, one of the biggest achievements of these two teams is to stay calm under pressure and not depend on one player. This is truly the clash of Titans who have survived a bad game each in the group stage to make it here. No matter what happens at the Dubai International Stadium, cricket has already won.

The short-lived joyride ft. Sarfaraz, Rishabh

@ Bengaluru

ON SATURDAY, two young men — one who was on the verge of leaving the sport for good and another who almost died less than two years ago — gave wings to new dreams. They broke open a hitherto lost cause. To be inside the M Chinnaswamy Stadium during their madcap three-hour stand was to be taken on a joyride.

Indian millennials had Mohammad Azharuddin and Sachin Tendulkar from Cape Town in 1996. Now, centennials have their own partnership. It will find a place in reels and drive kids to the nearest net, with a bat in hand, oodles of hope and plenty of imagination in their eyes. If Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli fantasised on Friday, Sarfaraz and Pant almost manifested it into reality.

Both of them, indulging in an art of batsmanship from an ultra modern age (entertaining is the only currency in town), took the weekend hoi-polloi through a journey from cautious optimism to gay abandon.

One of the most significant pit stops during their journey will possibly see NFTs making a comeback. It was that special. Sarfaraz, who has already faced multiple rejections in his nascent career, punched one off the back-foot to the boundary between point and cover before taking off. By the time he was back in the striker's end, he knew he had completed a long cherished dream. A Test century. One of Azad maidans great enigmas had answered the call of duty thanks to a breathless display of counter-punching.

There were late cuts so late his bat was within kissing distance of keeper Tom Blundell. The upper cuts were so nonchalant it would have made the bowler weep. He repeatedly kept peppering the area between keeper and backward point so much the visitors had as many four fielders in that part of the ground. But Sarfaraz still found a keyhole gap to thread the ball to the toblerone-shaped cushions (47 off his 150 runs came in that region).

When he wasn't notching up boundaries at will in a fever dream of a morning session, he was doing a mid-pitch rain dance. After completing a single, Pant, turning blindly, had run almost half-way before looking at Sarfaraz. The Mumbaikar had turned around and stopped. After seeing Pant haring back, he was wildly gesticulating, jumping up and down in the middle of the pitch, like a kid throwing a tantrum in the ice-cream section of a supermarket.

It was ironic considering Pant, whose last involvement in the match saw him copping a blow to the knee-cap, played the most audacious shot of the home season. In the process, he sent the ball into ever present Bengaluru traffic on Infantry Road. Tim Southee, with a six-over ball, bowled a full-ish length delivery on off-stump. Pant went down on one knee before picking it up and pumping it onto the roof and beyond. It was all wrists and hips. It was so absurd it brought the same reaction from teammate and opponents. "How did you do that?" It resulted in a ball change. It indirectly led to his downfall as he played on when he was on 99.

When Pant walked out to bat with Sarfaraz at the start of the day's play, it showed two things. One, the knock to his knee wasn't serious enough. From a match perspective, India wanted to be aggressive. The southpaw gave them that as one lofted straight-drive landed next to the press box when they were still trailing by more than 70 runs. A complete momentum shift happened a few overs later when he cooked Ajaz Patel's left-arm spin for two sixes and a boundary in an over. Looking at the bigger picture, the 177-run partnership at a run-rate of over five per over may have only delayed the inevitable. However, that has given the hosts a toenail in the door.

Jordan, Bates and the legacy of jersey No. 23

KALYANI MANAGALE @ Dubai

JUNE 14, 1998. Delta Center, Salt Lake City. Utah Jazz vs Chicago Bulls. National Basketball Association Finals, Game 6. Even though the Bulls were leading the seven-match series 3-2, and just needed one final push to clinch their second hat-trick of the championship in the 1990s, the games, bar one, were exceptionally close. The Jazz were at home, but trailing behind by one Game. A win here meant they would get another opportunity to go at the Bulls and potentially win the championship.

In the final moments of Game 6, with just 20 seconds left in the game and Jazz leading by one point, all Malone had to do was make one play. And the Jazz were about to force Game 7 on Michael Jordan's Bulls. However, that never happened. Before Malone could make up his mind to either shoot himself or pass it, Jordan came from behind and pounced. With six seconds left, he charged forward, only to take a step back and put a dagger through the Jazz, taking a lead by a point. Utah called a timeout, but the dagger was through. Stockton missed the three and the Bulls were champions again.

When MJ was doing the unthinkable in the States, at the other end of the globe, in New Zealand, Suzie Bates was falling in love with the game of basketball. She would have been 11 when Jordan cleaned up the Jazz to get another ring for himself. "My brother used to love Michael Jordan," Bates said. "When I first made the White Ferns I loved basketball equally. At 18, I thought I am a baller at heart, so I can be No 23. I have never been 23 for any other team but that was the reason initially," Bates said.

The baller side of Bates never really went away. Nor did the attitude that MJ planted in her head. Never shy away from responsibilities, especially when your team needs it the most. So when everything was on the line in the semifinal against West Indies on Friday — with 15 runs needed off the final over and a fielding penalty hanging over their heads — Bates wanted the ball from her captain Sophie Devine. There were many raised eyebrows. Bates was going to bowl off-spin to the 19-year-old Zaida James.

One in the January of her life, while the other probably in November of her career. James smashed the first ball nonchalantly through the covers for a boundary and looked like Malone from 1998 who knew all the plans and back-up plans by the back of her hand.

However, Bates, like Jordan, had something up her sleeves.

As South Africa and New Zealand face each other in the final of the T20 World Cup, a look at the key talking points...

NZ OPENERS VS KAPP

Suzie Bates and Georgia Plimmer aren't a explosive opening pair but they have complimented each other well so far. In the summit clash, their biggest threat will be Marizanne Kapp up front and how Plimmer handles the South African could set the tone for the innings.

CARSON, THE X-FACTOR

Coming into the World Cup, Eden Carson was expected to be New Zealand's biggest weapon with the ball in conditions that are favourable for her. And that has been the case so far. The off-spinner put up back-to-back match-winning performances in crucial ties (in semis and in a must-win tie vs Pakistan). Can she pull off another big performance?

THE TOSS FACTOR

Of the 11 matches in Dubai so far, seven have been won by the chasing team. In the last two games, especially, the conditions seem to get a lot better under the lights to bat. It will be interesting to see if whoever wins the toss, opts to put runs on the board in a big final or stick to the theme and chase.

1 Irrespective of who wins, the world will have a new T20 champion.

Bournemouth's Ryan Christie (10) scores against Arsenal on Saturday | AP

10-man Arsenal stunned

AGENCIES @ London

TITLE hopefuls Arsenal had a chance to go top of the Premier League on Saturday. Instead, they suffered their first defeat of the season as the Gunners lost 0-2 against AFC Bournemouth at the Vitality Stadium.

William Saliba's red card in the half-an-hour mark proved to be the difference as Bournemouth made their one-man advantage count to score two unanswered goals in the second-half. Ryan Christie and Justin Kluivert were on the scoresheet for the home side.

Earlier, Manchester United eased the pressure on beleaguered boss Erik ten Hag as they fought back to beat Brentford 2-1, while Tottenham got back on track with a 4-1 rout of West Ham on Saturday. Aston Villa beat Fulham 3-1.

Results: Tottenham 4-1 West Ham; Man United 2-1 Brentford; Fulham 1-3 Aston Villa; Newcastle 0-1 Brighton; Southampton 2-3 Leicester; Ipswich 0-2 Everton; Bournemouth 2-0 Arsenal.

ISL: Mohun Bagan win Kolkata Derby

KOLKATA: Mohun Bagan Super Giant pipped their arch-rivals East Bengal FC by 2-0 in the high-octane Kolkata Derby in the Indian Super League here on Saturday. Mohun Bagan controlled the tempo of the match from start to finish, as a goal each from Jamie Maclaren and Dimitrios Petratos in either half was enough for Jose Molina's men to secure their eighth victory against the Red & Gold Brigade in ISL. Earlier in Margao, Mumbai City FC edged FC Goa 2-1 to record their first victory of the season.

Bhullar inches closer to 12th win on Asian Tour

BANGKOK: Gaganjeet Bhullar, who won his last title 11 months ago, put himself in the perfect position to pick up his 12th Asian Tour win as he fired a bogey-free 66 at the Black Mountain Championship. Bhullar added a 66 to get to 19-under and two shots clear of John Catlin (65).

Ranji Trophy: Inclement weather plays spoilsport in Alur

ENS/AGENCIES

ONCE AGAIN, inclement weather had a say in the proceedings of the tie between Kerala (161/3) and Karnataka which is being played in Alur. After the 23 overs that were bowled on day one, Karnataka could only send down 27 more on Sunday due to rain.

Gaja steps up for Gujarat

Chintan Gaja followed up his splendid 92 with three crucial wickets as Andhra were reduced to 137/5 on day two against Gujarat in Ahmedabad. Gaja, who along with Arzan Nagwaswalla (82 n.o), helped Gujarat go from 203/8 to 367, ran through Andhra middle-order. When it looked like they were going to collapse in double digits, KS Bharat (78) and Nitish Kumar Reddy (34) put on an unbeaten 108-run stand for the sixth wicket.

Hyderabad in control

DEHRADUN: After the early stumble, Kodimela Himateja (78) and Rahul Radesh (82 batting) put on a crucial stand for Hyderabad to regain control on day two against Uttarakhand. Having been reduced to 64/4, the duo added 142 runs for the fifth wicket before Himateja fell in the 68th over. Earlier, Tanay Thyagarajan took four wickets to help Hyderabad keep Uttarakhand to 325 in the first innings.

Washington, Pradosh shine

Washington Sundar and Pradosh Ranjan Paul feasted on Delhi's sub-standard spin attack to hit hundreds as Tamil Nadu drowned Delhi under a deluge of runs to take complete control of their Group D Ranji Trophy match. Tamil Nadu declared their first innings at 674 for 6 and in the remaining time, Delhi reached 43 for no loss in 16 overs with stand-in opener Harsh Tyagi joining Sanat Sangwan after regular opener Dhruv Kaushik split his webbing. Delhi are also hamstrung by an on-field injury to Pranshu Vijayaran and not conceding an innings defeat to Tamil Nadu would be a big achievement for the hosts.

SELECT SCORES Tamil Nadu 674/6 decl in 158.2 ovs (Sai Sudharsan 213, Washington 152, Pradosh 117) vs Delhi 43/0 in 16 ovs; Gujarat 367 in 106 ovs (Gaja 92, Nagwaswalla 82 n.o; Raju 3/53) lead Andhra 137/5 in 32 ovs (Bharat 78; Nagwaswalla 1/22); Uttarakhand 325 in 82 ovs (Avneesh 89, Tare 69; Tanay 4/85) vs Hyderabad 244/5 in 78 ovs (Kodimela 78, Rahul 82 batting; Bora 2/51; Vidarbha 283 in 96.5 ovs (Yash 118, Harsh 76; Gaurav 4/65) lead Puducherry 45/1 in 15 ovs (Akash 23 batting; Dubey 1/15; J&K 270 in 70.3 ovs lead Odisha 198/5 69.1 ovs (Poddar 87 batting, Mushtaq 2/52); Kerala 161/3 in 50 ovs (Rohan 63; Gopal 1/18) vs Karnataka.

Poddar leads the way

CUTTACK: Skipper Govinda Poddar led from the front with an unbeaten 87 from 148 balls as Odisha finished day two on 198/5 in 69.1 overs against Jammu and Kashmir. Opener Anurag Sarangi was the second-highest scorer with 35 from 103 balls. Earlier, Abdul Samad's century had taken J&K to 270 in the first innings and Odisha now need another 72 runs to secure the first innings lead.

WHY TRUDEAU'S ALLEGATIONS ARE A BADGE OF HONOUR FOR LAWRANCE BISHNOI

INSTEAD OF INCAPACITATING HIM, JAILS SERVED AS INCUBATORS FOR HIS GANG TO EXPAND ITS DEPTH AND BREADTH AS HE GOT TO MAKE NEW ALLIANCES WITH FELLOW FELONS

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

FROM taking to crime less than two decades ago following his cousin's murder, to being named by Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau for contract offences at the alleged behest of the Indian government, jailbird Lawrence Bishnoi has attained global notoriety on a scale he wouldn't have expected in a short span. Whether or not there is any grain of truth in the charges echoed by Trudeau after the Royal Canadian Mounted Police first claimed he was a hired gun of the Indian state actors, Bishnoi wouldn't possibly mind as it amplified his standing in the underworld many times over. His phenomenal rise in sin city is already spawning global curiosity, including from sections of the filmdom.

By design or otherwise, the Sabarmati Central Jail in Ahmedabad that houses him is perhaps the safest place for Bishnoi now as he does have extremely powerful enemies itching to knock him down from his high horse. The government has invoked the rarely used Section 268(1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure to bar his exit from that prison. Nine years ago, he had slipped from police custody while being taken for a court hearing from the Bharatpur jail in Rajasthan to Ropar in Punjab.

According to Section 268(1) of the CrPC, the state government may at any time by general or special order, direct that a person shall not be removed from prison he/she is confined in till the order is in force. No order made under Section 267 (prisoner transit warrant) before or after the Section 268(1) order, shall have effect on such an individual.

If that passes the smell test of a state asset, consider the fact that almost all law enforcement agencies — from the police to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) and the National Investigation Agency (NIA) — are probing multiple cases of murder and extortion against his gang. Government deniability appears to be written all over it. For example, the government said it had unsuccessfully pressed Canada to extradite known associates of Bishnoi, in its rebuttal to Trudeau naming the gangster.

Despite being in prison, Bishnoi appears to have the tools of communication through which he accepts assignments and channels them to his gang whose footprint is already widespread in North India, Canada, the US, the UAE and elsewhere, and has made him the country's most powerful don at present. Far from being correctional centres, jails seem to be incubators as he uses them to forge new bonds with fellow felons and expand his stomping ground.

Entry point

A few years ago, he revealed he took to crime to avenge the murder of his cousin Amandeep alias Sonu, who hailed from the Chatuala village in Haryana. Sonu was a liquor dealer in whose business Bishnoi was an investor. But Haryana gangster Chotu Ram Bhat got Sonu killed through Vicky Gounder, who ran a gang in Punjab. Bishnoi took to crime with a vengeance and put both Bhat and Gounder on his crosshairs. Gounder was killed in an encounter with Punjab Police in 2018.

In 2014, he along with Goldy Brar allegedly shot dead a rival of his cousin's friend who was contesting in the Ludhiana Municipal Corporation elections. The same year, he was involved in an encounter with the Rajasthan Police and was lodged in Bharatpur Jail where he expanded his criminal network further. In 2015, he escaped from police custody with the help of associates as he was being taken for a court hearing to Ropar. Months later, Bishnoi fell into the Punjab Police's net for alleged possession of weapons of foreign origin. He then started making extortion calls from jail, demanding protection money from Punjabi singers. In 2017, members of the Bishnoi gang shot dead gangster Lavi Deora, 25, at a fair in Kotkapura in Faridkot. Goldie Brar played an active role in the plot. And in 2020, Goldie Brar's brother Gurlal (26), former state president of the Students' Organization of Panjab University, was gunned down in his Toyota Fortuner outside the Playboy Nightclub at the City Emporium Mall in Chandigarh by members of the Davinder Bambiha gang to avenge Deora's killing. By then Middukhera had joined politics and become a Youth Akali Dal leader. He was shot dead in 2021.

While in Bharatpur jail in 2019, Bishnoi communicated through mobile phones to run his crime syndicate with the alleged connivance of the prison staff. He used voice-over IP calls to coordinate with his associates in the UK, Canada and Armenia since it would be difficult for Indian agencies to trace servers abroad, said sources. Apparently, incarceration couldn't contain his growing appetite for crime and influence. In 2021, Bishnoi was transferred to Tihar Jail in Delhi in connection with a Maharashtra Control of Organized Crime Act case.

Targeting Salman Khan

It was in 2018 that Sampath Nehra did a reconnaissance of filmstar Salman Khan for Bishnoi. Nehra had then claimed he was assigned the job due to the actor's alleged involvement in the blackbuck hunting case. During a court appearance in Jodhpur, Bishnoi publicly threatened the star, stating, "Salman will be killed here in Jodhpur."

Last year, two men on a motorbike sprayed bullets outside Salman's Bandra residence. A rerun of the same episode happened in April this year. The Mumbai Police blamed it on the shooters hired by Bishnoi.

His fingerprint was also seen in the firings outside the houses of Punjabi musician A P Dhillon in September this year and singer Gippy Grewal's house in November last year, both in Canada. Besides, his gang took responsibility for the killing of gangster Sukha Duneke in September last year in Canada. And the killers of Shri Rashtriya Rajput Karni Sena president Sukhdev Singh Gogamedi, who gunned him down in December last year in Jaipur, were linked to the Bishnoi gang.

The gang's hired goons also fired shots outside the house of former Punjab MLA and liquor baron Deep Malhotra in Delhi in December last year, as they did in 2022 outside the residence of businessman Pradeep Jain in Shahdara in the national capital. "These are scare tactics for protection money," said a police officer.

Controversial interview

In September 2022, a TV channel pulled off a sensational interview of Bishnoi while in custody. It was aired in two parts on March 14 and March 17 last year. In the interview, the gangster claimed he was not involved in the murder of Moosewala but underscored his animosity for Salman. The Punjab government last month told the Punjab and Haryana High Court that show cause notices had been issued to the then senior superintendent of police of SAS Nagar, and three other police officers regarding the interview. The court gave the police a piece of its mind following reports that the latter had sought dropping of most charges in the interview FIR, and for not fully appraising the bench on the progress in the probe.

The shocking interview took centrestage in the Punjab assembly, with the Leader of Opposition and senior Congress leader Partap Singh Bajwa last month demanding a thorough investigation in the matter. Bajwa called for an all-party panel of MLAs to probe the role of police officers in facilitating the interview.

Brother Anmol

At present, Bishnoi's younger brother Anmol alias Bhanu, wanted in connection with the murder of Moosewala and a slew of other crimes, is a fugitive on a fake passport in the United States. He was spotted last year in videos with Punjabi singers Karan Aujla and Sherry Mann at a wedding in Bakersfield, California. Both Aujla and Mann had then issued disclaimers stating they were not aware of Anmol's presence at the event. Anyway, the statements at least confirmed the authenticity of the videos.

Anmol, against whom the NIA, too, has filed a chargesheet, has been included in the latest list of notorious gangsters living abroad, compiled by the Union Ministry of Home Affairs. A Special Investigation Team (SIT) of the Punjab Police, which had investigated the Moosewala murder case, had then said Anmol was a co-conspirator who fled India using a fake passport a few months before the killing. The SIT chargesheet alleged that he was part of the plot from its inception and managed the logistics before fleeing. Rohit Godara, another close aide of Bishnoi, is in the US/ Canada with Anmol.

NIA attaches properties

The NIA attached four properties owned by the alleged associates of the Bishnoi gang this year - three immovable and one movable. One of them is a flat in Gomti Nagar in Lucknow, which belongs to Vikas Singh; two other assets are owned by one Dalip Kumar in Fazilka, Punjab while the movable property is a Fortuner of Joginder Singh in Yamunanagar, Haryana. Vikas Singh, the agency claimed, is an associate of Lawrence Bishnoi. He harboured various terrorists in his property, including the accused involved in the RPG attack on the Punjab Police Headquarters on May 9, 2022.

NIJJAR
PEACE-LOVING CANADIAN OR TERRORIST?

If Trudeau gave legitimacy to Khalistani radical Hardeep Singh Nijjar — gunned down outside a gurdwara on Canadian soil last year — and damaged relations with India, opposition leader Maxime Bernier called him out and said Nijjar was actually a foreign terrorist. "One myth should be dispelled though: That the central figure in this controversy, Hardeep Singh Nijjar, the Khalistani militant who was murdered last year, was a Canadian. He was actually a foreign terrorist who used fraudulent documents to claim asylum in Canada several times starting in 1997. His claims were rejected but he was nevertheless allowed to stay in this country and was somehow granted citizenship in 2007," Maxime Bernier wrote on X. Bernier went on to state that if the allegations of Indian diplomats participating in criminal activities in Canada are true, they should be dealt with appropriately
